10,000 TROOPS GOING TO PALESTINE

MARTIAL LAW NECESSARY?

Britain Takes All Precautions
ARAB LEADERS NOW ADMIT
SITUATION OUT OF HAND

London, Sept. 5.

The Daily Telegraph understands that reinforcements destined for Palestine total about 10,000 men, who are leaving Aldershot on September 11.

The force comprises twelve infantry battalions, four field companies of Royal Engineers, three companies of Royal Corps of Signals and three companies of Royal Army Service Corps.

This reinforcement will bring the British forces in Palestine to a total of 17,000 men, sufficient to allow the imposition of martial law, though it is hoped this step will not be necessary.

The Telegraph learns from Jerusalem that British troops yesterday reinforced the street patrols and pickets and barricades appeared in the streets.

Arab leaders admit the situation has got beyond their control.—Reuter.

FORCEFUL MEASURES (Special To "Telegraph")

London, Sept. 4.
Dramatic political and military moves have indicated the British Government's determination to answer the Arab campaign of violence in Palestine forcefully if necessary.

The authorities are prepared to rush fresh troops to Palestine, where martial law is regarded as likely unless the campaign of terrorism abates.

The War Office has announced that the First Division of Infantry has been recalled from its scheduled manoeuvres in Sussex, while the Cabinet is considering the advisability of sending it to Palestine.

Meanwhile, Mr. William Ormsby-Gore, Minister for Colonies, has conferred with Sir John Simon, acting head of the Government, regarding the means for coping with the Arab-Jewish conflict. It is rumoured that Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, arrived in Haifa on Friday about the cruiser, H.M.S. Arctura, and will co-operate with the High Commissioner, Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Wauchope, in dealing with emergencies or negotiating peace, if the Arabs so desire.—United Press.

MORE CASUALTIES

Jerusalem, Sept. 4.
Two more British casualties have occurred in Palestine, both officers, shot dead in the engagement with the Arab band near Tulkarem yesterday.

The total of casualties on the British side in this engagement is now three dead and five wounded. In addition, one British soldier was killed and two bluejackets and one soldier injured, when a train was derailed near Jerusalem to-day, as a result of sabotage on the railway.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

CALLING UP RESERVISTS

London, Sept. 4.
The War Office announces that a number of Army Reservists are being called up in order to bring to establishment strength certain units which may be required to reinforce the garrison in Palestine.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

COLD TO RUSSIA

Rome, Sept. 4.
The Foreign Office has indicated that it will oppose any move to include Russia in the conference of Locarno signatories, scheduled for next month.—United Press.

KING EDWARD ON HOLIDAY

MINERS' STRIKE MONDAY

WELSH DEADLOCK
STILL PERSISTS

TROUBLESOME WORKERS

London, Sept. 4.
The Secretary for Mines, Mr. H. F. C. Crookshank, heard the views of the rival unions in the Bedwas Colliery dispute, which threatens to involve a strike of thousands of men, but the deadlock still persists.

The South Wales Miners Federation has issued notices instructing all lodges to make arrangements for cessation of work on Monday.

The Bedwas Company's attitude is explained in a statement announcing its intention of standing by the Industrial Union. It says the company suffered from continuous strikes when the colliery was worked by members of the Miners' Federation, but there has not been a single stoppage since the dispute of 1933, when the company first commenced to work with the Industrial Union.—Reuter.

Shanghai's Interport Cricket XI

The Telegraph is able to reveal to-day that six players have so far been selected for Shanghai's interport cricket team to play Hongkong next month. They include A. J. Barson, as captain, R. Booth, H. V. Parker, L. F. Stokes, M. J. Divecha and J. E. H. Leckie.

Trials are now in progress in Shanghai and further selections will be made after this week-end.

Full story will be found on Page 12.

STOP PRESS

Canton, Sept. 5.

Despite the deadlock over the Kwangsi question, owing to Generals Li Chung-yan and Pai Chung-hai insisting on remaining in Kwangsi, Liu Wai-chang, General Li's representative, accompanied the peace mission to Canton yesterday afternoon. There are reports that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek is leaving for Foshan shortly to review the Ninth Division of the Central Government forces, now concentrated at Foshan.—Reuter.

SOCIALISTS IN CONTROL

New Government Takes Reins in Spain

WILL FIGHT INSURGENTS TO BITTER END

Madrid, Sept. 4.

The Spanish Government has resigned. Senor Largo Caballero, the Socialist leader, has formed a new ministry, with Senor Alvarez de Vayo as Foreign Minister.—Reuter.

FIGHT TO FINISH

Paris, Sept. 4.

The formation of the new Government in Madrid indicates a stiffening of resistance to the insurgents and spells a relentless fight to the finish, according to French diplomatic circles.

Senor Largo Caballero is one of the most prominent Labour leaders in Spain and is strongly opposed to the restoration of the monarchy. He received a life sentence in 1917 in consequence of his extremist activities.

It is stated that the new Foreign Minister is a journalist, reputed to be of francophile tendencies.

Another outstanding figure of the new Ministry is Senor Indalecio Prieto, Minister of the Navy and Air, who possesses more moderate tendencies than Senor Caballero.—Reuter.

Left Coalition

Madrid, Sept. 4.

A new Leftist coalition has been formed in Madrid under the leadership of Senor Largo Caballero, including Senor Julio Delvayo as Foreign Minister, Senor Juan Negrin as Minister of Finance, Senor Indalecio Prieto as Minister of Navy and Air, Senor Angel Gallarza, Minister of Interior, Senor A. de Gracia, Minister of Industry and Commerce, Senor Vicens Urebe, Minister of Agriculture, Senor Jesus Hernandez, Minister of Education, Senor Bernado Delos Rios, Minister of Communications, Senor Tomas Pita, Minister for Labour, Senor Mariano Funes, Minister of Justice, Senor Jose Aguirre, Minister of Public Works, and Senor Jose Giral, Minister without portfolio.—United Press.

IRUN FALLS TO REBELS

Insurgents Mass At San Sebastian

CITY MAY SURRENDER
TO AVOID FIGHT

Hendaye, Sept. 4.

Irun is now a smoking mass of ruins. The last militiamen have crossed the French frontier, and all real resistance has finished. The insurgents, however, are still not in possession of the whole town, and are advancing prudently, fearing a trap. But for all practical purposes Irun is completely in their hands.

It is reported that bombardment of the Government's advance positions at San Sebastian has begun.

The rebels are massing troops to the north-east of the city and it is rumoured that it may surrender in order to avoid the horrors of street fighting.—Reuter.

Italian Planes

London, Sept. 4.

The Spanish Charge d'Affaires here has directed the attention of the Foreign Office to the report of the landing of 24 Italian planes at Vigo. The Foreign Office itself has received an independent report confirming the statement that an Italian ship arrived at Vigo on August 28 with 24 planes for disembarkation. It was on August 28 that the Italian Government first put into operation its arms embargo against Spain. The ship which carried the planes to Vigo, therefore, must have passed out of the jurisdiction of the Italian Government some days previously.—Reuter.

English Girl Flying Across Atlantic Ocean

London, Sept. 4.

Mrs. Beryl Markham, sister-in-law of Sir Charles Markham, the colliery owner, left Abingdon at 6.50 p.m. to-day in an attempt to fly the Atlantic Ocean alone.

If she succeeds she will be the first woman to accomplish the flight from east to west.—Reuter.

ON OTHER PAGES

Important archaeological finds in Hongkong, throwing light on the development of civilisation long before the Christian era, have prompted Dr. Anderson, a world-famous archaeologist, to announce his intention of visiting this Colony shortly. Page 18.

Owing to financial stringency, volunteer camps have been abandoned for this year. Page 9.

There is a possibility that the Hongkong Government may shortly be called upon to find nearly two million dollars, collected from civil servants for the past 30 years as contributions to Widows' and Orphans' pensions, and used to finance ordinary Government expenditure. Page 9.

A summary of the complaints and suggestions made by listeners in the recent Popular Radio Ham contest, sponsored by the "Telegraph" is given on the Entertainment Page of... Supplement.

Shanghai has selected six players to form the nucleus of the cricket Interport team to play Hongkong next month. Page 12.

QUEEN MARY

London, Sept. 4.

Queen Mary, who for the past week has been staying with the Princess Royal at Harewood House, will, according to present arrangements, return to Buckingham Palace on Monday next. It is expected that Her Majesty will remain at Buckingham Palace for some weeks before taking up her residence at Marlborough House.—British Wireless.

TYPHOON SOUTH OF HONGKONG

NOT THREATENING
AT PRESENT

NAVAL SHIP IN SEVERE STORM

Squally weather, with rain, is likely later to-day as a result of the near presence of a small typhoon, which was still situated about 120 miles S.W. of the Colony, moving very slowly W.N.W., this morning.

Mr. C. W. Jeffries, Director of the Royal Observatory, stated this morning that Manila reports, which differed from those of Hongkong, did not make it easy to track the disturbance, but it appeared at the moment to be moving slowly in a semi-circle and by present indications it would pass well south of Macao.

The weather would probably get worse this afternoon, but no gales were expected locally unless the disturbance changed its course, which did not seem probable.

WARSHIP HEAVES-TO

H.M.S. Lowestoft has been labouring for two days in heavy seas on the edge of a typhoon in the North China Sea. This morning she reported that she had had to heave-to during the worst of the storm, but was now making six knots and expected to be in Hongkong by Wednesday or Thursday.

The ship and personnel are undamaged.

Dealing With Difficult Guests

POOR HOSTESS!

How many hostesses have been faced with the problem of the guest

BURGLARS?

"One of my worst experiences," said a hostess with a friend who turned out to be a confirmed night prowler. Every night I woke up, cold with fright, imagining I had heard burglars! On Friday night she made midnight tea. On Saturday she got up to change her book, and on Sunday she feared she had shut the cut out on the landing.

"To thank somebody at two o'clock in the morning for searching for a cat that has not been shut out imposes too much strain on one's manners."

NEVER TIRED

But what about the guest who is never ready for bed? The wireless closes down and she says, "Thank you goodness, there's a gramophone." Everybody else is yawning, but she has the energy of a lark and suggests a rough and tumble treasure hunt or moonlight bathing.

It is problems such as these which give our hostesses grey hairs—and at times make them feel in sympathy.

"Please to go home, for now I am tired of you." Which is, after all, one way out of the difficulty.

Operation So That A Woman May Smile Would Not Look Into A Mirror

She Will Know The Result This Month

THE mystery of the visit to England by Dr. Thomas G. Tickle, an eminent New York surgeon, was cleared up by Dr. Tickle himself in an interview.

Dr. Tickle crossed the Atlantic to perform an extremely delicate operation to restore the appearance of a woman whose face was one-half lifeless and ugly and the other half full of vitality and attractive.

The woman, who for years has not dared to look into a mirror will this week be asked to see herself as she was before illness spoiled her good looks.

She is the patient of a surgeon attached to the London Hospital, who called in the aid of the American surgeon.

Dr. Tickle, who is now taking a holiday at Ayr, Sussex, told a Press representative:

"The woman was suffering from facial paralysis. The operation was performed in a private hospital in London.

The patient is not connected with any royal family, as has been reported, but it was nevertheless an extremely interesting and unusual case."

It has been announced that Dr. Tickle's patient will now be able to see herself in a mirror without dread as the result of the grafting of a nerve from another part of her body to replace that deadened on one side of her face.

The patient has to learn to use facial muscles that have been disused.

When the bandages are removed this week the surgeons hope to see her greet them with the smiling gratitude of a normal woman.

NEWLYWEDS TEST AN OLD ADAGE

Boston, Aug. 25.—An elated bridegroom, too embarrassed to divulge his name, thought because he heard two could live as cheaply as one, they too could travel as one. When the newlyweds were boarding an Eastern Steamship Lines boat, the husband presented only one ticket. A steamship attendant exploded the man's theory. He purchased another ticket.

Doctors Offer New, Accurate Test Of Death

London, Aug. 25.—A new test of death, discovered by Drs. Salisbury and Melvin, of Queens' University, Kingston, Ont., is described in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

"The general application of this test would remove all traces of one of the most haunting fears of mankind—the chance of premature burial," the journal declares.

The test involves appearance of the eye. All that is necessary is an ophthalmoscope, an instrument for inspecting the retina. If the columns of blood in the retinal veins are broken the patient is beyond resuscitation. This phenomenon takes place after the circulation has been stopped for about ten minutes. United Press.

MARY ASTOR'S FRIEND SAYS 'WHAT HARM?'

"I Know They Had A Flirtation"

GREY-HAIRED Beatrice Kaufman, wife of George Kaufman, Hollywood playwright mentioned in the "mis-steps" diary of film star Mary Astor, is determined that the Los Angeles lawsuit shall make no difference to her married life.

One passage from the diary, quoted by the lawyer of Mary Astor's ex-husband (they are fighting for the custody of their daughter) was: "I love George and the least I can do is to save him from a messy scandal."

In silver pyjamas, embroidered in red, Mrs. Kaufman received me in her luxury suite at a Park-lane hotel, says a London correspondent. She is tall, dark-eyed, her hair is brushed back from a high, intelligent forehead.

"I don't know why I am seeing you," she said, "I shall see no one else. Sit down."

"OUR DAUGHTER"
She glanced at a picture of a healthy-looking girl of eleven and said: "That is our daughter, taken in Central Park, New York. She is our only child."

As she talked she moved restlessly across the room, chain-smoking. "I knew all about this case before it caught the limelight," said Mrs. Kaufman. "I know Mary Astor. I know her well."

"My husband met her just about this time a year ago, was working in Hollywood. He was working in Hollywood. They had a flirtation. I cannot see that there is any terrible harm in that. Is it unusual for a husband to flirt with an actress?"

"We have been married twenty years. We are adults, leading our lives in an adult fashion."

"George is a good husband. I love him very much. He is in love with me despite the things that may have happened."

"I heard about the Mary Astor business when I returned to our home in New York. I entertained Mary Astor there."

"I DID NOT THINK—"
"I heard that her husband wanted the custody of the child. I heard that he threatened to use the name of my husband. But somehow I did not think that it would ever become a lawsuit focused with the eyes of the world."

Mrs. Kaufman lighted another cigarette.

"You know George is worried, really worried, for my sake," she continued. "In two days I have had five radiograms from him. They are to reassure me, to stop me worrying. Sweet of him, isn't it? But, of course, I cannot help being anxious."

"Please do not ask me to discuss Mary Astor. She is a film actress. She kept a diary. Very stupid that. But I prefer to remain outside this affair."

"I would like to preserve some dignity."

Mrs. Kaufman has been holidaying in Europe for three weeks. Soon she is returning to Paris. In two weeks she goes back to New York, travelling with Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin. "And when I get back to New York," she told me, "George will be there to meet me."

English Wife Accquitted

NINE OF SPADES DRAMA

Paris, Aug. 25.
MME. JOSEF KEMEID, fifty-one-year-old Ipswich-born wife of a wealthy Syrian whisky merchant twenty years her senior—found not guilty to-day by the Grasse Assize Court of the murder of her husband—was warned when a fortune-teller dealt her the nine of spades that trouble was coming.

Mme. Kemeid, formerly Miss May Duggan, is alleged to have shot her husband in his sleep at their villa, Morning Star, at Venice, last November, and then to have tried to commit suicide.

Dressed in black, except for a dark-blue hat on her greying hair, she stood listlessly in the dock while the story of her husband's death was unfolded.

Neighbours described how she had rushed out of the villa at dawn on November 8 with blood streaming from a wound on her cheek. Others stated that Mme. Kemeid had led a life of purgatory with her husband, who, she told them, was "rotten with vice."

Drama came when Mme. Baratter, a fortune-teller, described how she had prophesied trouble for Mme. Kemeid only two days before the tragedy.

She said: "On November 5, Mme. Kemeid came to see me, as she often did. I dealt her cards. Among them was the nine of spades. Immediately I knew that trouble would come to Mme. Kemeid from the police, and it was so."

Here Mme. Kemeid, disturbed a moment from her apathy, leaned forward and nodded vigorously.

Mme. Kemeid in evidence described her husband as "selfish, brutal, and mean."

"He often struck me," she stated timorously. "Once I told him to go back to Egypt to his Arab wife. We separated, but came together again for the sake of my daughter."

"But I was a harem slave, not a wife. My life was not my own." Mme. Kemeid's apathy did not break down till the end of the trial, when her defending counsel was making his closing speech.

"GOING TO KILL ME"

"Are they going to kill me," she cried, "there are so many of them." Then covering her face with a handkerchief she burst into tears, sobbing intermittently till the end of the trial.

The jury returned their verdict of "Not guilty" after only twenty minutes' retirement.

Immediately Mme. Kemeid was led from the court, and fell sobbing into the arms of her sister, Mrs. Rose Morgan, of Hove, who has been in Grasse for the last three days without having been able to see her sister.

Her face was still wet with tears. "Now I shall be able to go to England and see my daughter—that is if she wishes to see me," she added, sadly.

"Of course she will, my dear," said her sister consolingly.

"In any case, I shall never return to that awful villa," said Mme. Kemeid, "I cannot bear the thought of it."

Mme. Kemeid's daughter Leila, who took the veil five years ago, is in the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Fenham Hall, Newcastle.

HONGKONG TRAVEL ASSOCIATION

WIDER REPRESENT- ATION REQUESTED

An unexpected plea by Mr. C. M. Hall for wider representation of business interests on the Board of Directors featured the first annual general meeting of the Hongkong Travel Association held in the Post Office Building yesterday.

The Hon. Mr. W. J. Carr presided and in reply to Mr. Hall said the Association must now abide by the nominations already received, unless further names sponsored by three members were advanced.

The Chairman appealed for more individual support from the Chinese and those who benefited most from tourist trade. The Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo supported these remarks and thanked the Chairman and Board for the work they had accomplished under most trying and difficult circumstances.

Those present at the meeting were: Major R. D. Walker, Mr. C. H. Benson, Mr. Tang Chung-pai (Director), Mr. K. Bedford (Secretary), and Mr. H. M. Cooke (Auditor); Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, Messrs. Tang Shiu-kin, F. A. MacKintosh, C. M. Hall, P. H. Suckling, F. C. Barry, and the following members of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce: Messrs. J. M. Wong, L. Johnson, Lau Yuk-wan, Yung Koon-mann.

Referring to the nominations of Mr. J. H. Taggart and the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall to the Board, the Chairman said: "I am very sorry if people who wished to nominate others have been put off on account of ignorance. The meeting might like to accept other nominations; but I don't know whether we can and I think we should leave it at these two. Mr. Taggart is a very useful man and I should welcome the Hon. Mr. Kotewall, who is a representative of the Chinese community himself and will be of considerable assistance. As there are only two nominations I take it that they are elected."

The nominations were carried with acclamation.

After reference to the rules the Chairman said that it was not possible to alter the Constitution of the Association without notice of motion. Mr. MacKintosh: Did every member of the Association receive a copy of the rules?

The Chairman: The Association is covered by an Ordinance and is part of the law.

In closing the meeting the Chairman expressed the hope for a successful year, which he said, largely depended on the financial support of the public itself. He said the Association would gladly receive suggestions for carrying out their work.

KNOTS FORMED ON HER FINGERS

A Result of Deposits of Uric Acid

A striking example of the efficacy of Kruschen Salts in the removal of uric acid deposits has just come to our notice. A woman writes as follows:

"Small knots began to form between my fingers and on the small bones of my feet, both causing discomfort and uneasiness. Later drowsiness and sickness followed, and it appeared my circulation was bad, as my bones were showing signs of some deposit. Seeking a medical man's advice, I was advised to rest and diet a while, and to assist me quickly he recommended me Kruschen Salts, to be taken as directed, to remove the uric acid deposits in my system."

"This was eighteen months ago—when I was at a breakdown stage. I began instantly doing as he advised. I started my daily dose of Kruschen right then, and believe me, I am now a new woman. Be sure I tell my friends the secret of my present health."—(Mrs.) W. R. M.

The action of Kruschen Salts is to dissolve uric acid crystals, and to assist Nature in expelling these dissolved crystals through the natural channel.

3 Factors of Importance

in planning your advertising campaign.

● COVERAGE: For many years the "South China Morning Post" has been regarded as the leading newspaper in Hongkong and South China. It has by far the largest circulation, penetrating to the Outports and inland centres. "The Hongkong Telegraph" enjoys a similar pre-eminence as the leading afternoon newspaper.

● IN THE HOME: The newspaper that produces profitable results to the advertiser is the newspaper that is read and re-read by the family. The S. C. M. Post reaches most families with morning tea. Similarly, "The Hongkong Telegraph" is the afternoon favourite with the majority.

● LOCAL PRESTIGE: The judgment of "the man on the spot" in respect to media selection is based on sound knowledge and can be followed with confidence. Year in and year out leading local firms expend the greater part of their allocations in the "South China Morning Post" and "The Hongkong Telegraph."

ACCUSED MURDERER TELLS OF "RED" MAX GANG SECRETS ENGLISH GIRLS IN NET

REMARKABLE DEVELOPMENTS ARE EXPECTED TO FOLLOW A STATEMENT MADE BY ROGER VERNON, THE FRENCH EX-CONVICT NOW AWAITING TRIAL IN PARIS ON A CHARGE OF MURDERING "RED" MAX KASSEL, WHOSE SHOT-RIDDLED BODY WAS FOUND BY THE ROADSIDE AT SOUTH MIMMS, HERTS, SOME WEEKS AGO.

The statement, it is understood, has been forwarded to Scotland Yard and is likely to lead to the immediate breaking up of a notorious gang of white slave traffickers of which "Red" Max is openly stated to have been the head.

"Red" Max, known to many of his associates as "The King of the Underworld," was shot in a flat in Soho, and his body was later dumped by the roadside.

MYSTERY WOMAN

The adjourned inquest on him was opened at Hatfield recently, when a mystery woman, who it is claimed, was actually in the Soho flat when "Red" Max was shot, gave evidence. Apart altogether from this, however, the statement made by Roger Vernon is said to contain some amazing revelations concerning the activities of the sinister "Red" Max. Vernon made his statement to the examining magistrate in Paris, before whom he was summoned at his own written request.

He has declared that for three years he was employed by "Red" Max as "courier" and his special task was to "convey" British, French and German girl victims of the gang across the Channel. He had also, he said, to supervise all the formalities connected with the arrangement of "accommodation" for these girls to overcome difficulties regarding their stay in the countries into which they were imported.

Vernon reveals that Max had agents in practically every important British town, and that these agents were continually recruiting women and girls to fill vacancies in the houses and flats run by Max in London and on the Continent. In the same way, agents operating on the Continent procured foreign women who were "ferried" across by Vernon after husbands had been found for them and then placed not only in London but in Glasgow, Manchester, Liverpool, Newcastle, Edinburgh, Cardiff and Nottingham.

THE ACCESSION DECLARATION "I AM A FAITHFUL PROTESTANT" NOV. 3 CEREMONY

The declaration of Protestant Faith which the law requires the Sovereign to make on his accession will be made by the King in the House of Lords on Tuesday, November 3, at the State opening of a new session of Parliament.

The Sovereign makes the Accession Declaration either at the Coronation ceremony, or at his first meeting with Parliament, whichever event should come first. The declaration will therefore be made on November 3 next. It is as follows:

I do solemnly and sincerely in the presence of God profess, testify, and declare that I am a faithful Protestant, and that I will according to the true intent of the enactments which secured the Protestant Succession to the Throne of my Realm uphold and maintain the said enactments to the best of my powers according to law.

The declaration has to be "made, subscribed, and audibly repeated" by the Sovereign.

THREE MONTHS RECESS

Parliament adjourned recently. The date of reassembly, Mr. Baldwin announced in the House of Commons, will be Thursday, October 20. On that day the session will be prorogued and on the following Tuesday, November 3, the King will open the new session in State.

The postponement of the Prorogation until after the recess, although the business of the session will have been completed before the adjournment, is due to the Government's desire to be able to put emergency measures before Parliament with the least possible delay should the need arise. If the Prorogation took place this week, it would be necessary to spend a week on the formality of opening a new session before other business could be taken.

BABY BORN TO HYPNOTISED MOTHER

Felt No Pain, Says Doctor

New York, Aug. 20.

AMERICAN doctors are not impressed by the claim of Dr. A. H. Kanter, of Columbus, Ohio, that a 10½lb. baby girl was born painlessly to Mrs. Leonard Loomis, aged twenty-one, during deep sleep induced by hypnosis.

Dr. J. H. Upham, president-elect of the American Medical Association, described the hypnosis experiment as "one of those rare cases." "It has no bearing," he said, "on the future of maternity."

Dr. Andrews Rogers, of Ohio State Hospital, said: "I don't believe many women would depend on it; but you'll have to find that out from women."

AWOKE REFRESHED

"Five hundred to a thousand consecutive successful results would be required before hypnosis can expect serious consideration."

Dr. Kanter states that Mrs. Loomis awoke refreshed from her hypnotic sleep and said she had felt no pain. Both she and her baby are doing well.

While America is surprised and sceptical of painless birth achieved by hypnosis, in Soviet Russia hundreds of experiments have been made, and between 50 and 60 per cent. successes reported.

Autumn Fashion Signal Is GREEN

COLOUR Kings of Fashion in London have proclaimed green as our autumn colour.

Chou, a dark rich green, was easily favourite choice of the men who met in Sackville Street, W., as the British Colour Council, for a premiere of autumn fashion colour schemes.

With your green suit in the country you will wear a daring hunting gold for contrast.

The more subdued, more subtle temple gold for London accessories. There is a lovely thriller red, close relative of female.

Of the blackish variety for shoes, handbags.

Canton, a few shades below emerald, completes the Chinese influence on greens.

Wistaria, Wild Iris, and prune are suggested contrasts to set off Chinese amethyst.

Limoges blue and Chinese lacquer is another attractive combination for sports suits.

For reds the colour artists have found inspiration in the wine list.

Bacchus, Beaune, Chianti are a background for phlox, phantom blue, claret, and ruby.

Bengal Colossus Seen Again "DRESSED AS HERMIT"

Calcutta, August 24.

Bengal's mysterious Colossus has appeared again. A Bengali woman relates that while nursing a sick mother-in-law, she opened the door about mid-night and saw in front of the door an abnormally tall human figure carrying a rod and dressed as a hermit.

The woman shrieked, and fainted, and did not recover consciousness for four hours. Next morning the villagers were panic-stricken when they discovered near the house huge footprints, 22 inches long, 11 inches broad and six inches deep.

EVERY month big shipments of Bedford trucks leave England for every part of the world. And the rising export figures and many hundreds of enthusiastic letters from Bedford owners all over the world have shown that the Bedford is popular wherever it goes. Why this success? For, in designing the Bedford range, Vauxhall experts studied overseas conditions at first hand. They learnt what was wanted in trucks from the very men who were going to use them. And there is a world-wide organisation to make Bedford service and genuine spares available everywhere. Tested at every stage in the famous Luton works in England, proved sound and reliable on the roughest work in the world, the Bedford is a first-class investment whatever the nature of work!

SATURDAY, SEPT. 5, 1936.

TRAFFIC DANGERS

There was an illuminating paragraph in the weekly traffic report issued two days ago, to the effect that of eighteen persons injured in motor mishaps, fourteen were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles. This provides a striking indication of the dangers encountered in the crowded thoroughfares of the Colony from motor vehicles—dangers attributable in great measure both to the stupidity of pedestrians and to motorists who fail to take sufficient precautions when driving through congested areas. So far as pedestrians are concerned, our traffic police have an almost super-human task in their efforts to instil into jay-walkers and others a sense of the dangers to which they are exposed. This arises largely from the constant influx into the urban areas of people from the country, who wander about our streets, with wide open mouths, taking all manner of risks, apparently oblivious of the dangers of fast-moving traffic in busy districts. If we add to these people others who do not hesitate to dash out into the streets from behind verandah pillars, and those who have become inured to the constant tooting of motor-horns and consequently take little notice of the warnings, some idea of the immensity of the task facing the traffic police may be gained. But, as we have indicated, it is not only the pedestrian who is to blame for many of our traffic mishaps—the motorist is not infrequently the chief sinner: often the type of man who is not necessarily a speedster, but who, none the less, drives too quickly through crowded areas, forgetful of the point that he may be called upon to pull up suddenly, or, in swerving to avoid one danger, may run into a hapless pedestrian. There is, without question, too great a tendency on the part of many motorists to hurry, merely to save a couple of minutes which would not matter in any case. When we weigh up all the factors contributing to danger on the roads, it becomes evident that there is need of constant propaganda. Praiseworthy and admirable as the yearly Safety First campaign is, it needs to be extended throughout the whole year, supplemented by propaganda in the Chinese schools, where new generations are constantly arising, and in the vernacular Press. Only by such means will something approaching traffic sense be instilled into the people who through our busy thoroughfares.

WHAT SHOULD THEY LEARN?

THIS week the Secondary Schools start their new scholastic year. Many thousands of new boys and girls of 11 years of age will begin this term a school career which will last for four or five years.

They will on the whole be happy, but as the years go on over-pressure—the curse of Secondary Schools—will throw an ever-lengthening shadow over their lives.

The Secondary Schools are endeavouring to pump too much information into children in too short a time. They are turning out highly disciplined and industrious clerks, but they are grinding the character and individuality out of them.

It has been said many times that the chief cause of the present over-pressure is that the School Certificate Examination is being made to serve the purpose of a Matriculation examination for entrance to the Universities to which 90 per cent. of the children have no intention of going.

It is now evident that this incubus will be cast off before long and the curriculum of the Secondary Schools will be determined mainly by the opinion of headmasters and headmistresses.

THE main question is how much school work can be asked from a child provided that he is left free to think for himself, to take part in school societies and to develop his own out of school interests. Since the vast majority of Secondary School children go to day schools he must be allowed time to get to and from school.

Twenty-five hours a week, apart from time for physical training and games, represents as much mental concentration as is good for a growing child. As the mass of Secondary School children at present do thirty-five hours a week, including homework, we can measure the amount of over-pressure of which they are the victims. Twenty-five hours allows twenty-seven sessions of three-quarters of an hour each, plus one hour's homework, for five nights a week.

There is general agreement that up to the age of 14 years children must give most of their attention to English, arithmetic, history, geography, every-day science, handicraft and some form of art. Every-day science is included in the list, for it is impossible without it to keep in touch with the march of our mechanical age.

The most highly educated man that I know, who reads the classics for his pastime, told me recently that he was baffled as to why his electric bell rang when he pressed a button. But a truly educated man ought not to have to take the things of everyday life for granted with the simple wonder of a savage.

History is the subject that needs the most drastic reform. It deliberately stops, even in the most advanced syllabus, at 1914. Children are experts on the Treaty of Utrecht, but know nothing of the Treaty of Versailles. They know everything about Henry the Eighth, but they must not be taught anything about President Wilson, M. Briand, Lenin or Hindenburg until they have been dead for thirty years.

This is simply unintelligent. It justifies children in assuming that school has no connection with life. This taboo is maintained because it is said that teachers could not avoid political bias. This fetish pays a very poor compliment to their professional capacities. If they revealed political bias the first to discover it and discount it would be the children themselves.

IN addition to these subjects the children ought to be allowed a specified time each week in school hours to make a serious study of whatever hobby or special interest they select. "Education is that which remains after we have forgotten all that we have learnt at school." Judged by this test the hours devoted to hobbies are likely to leave the most lasting results of all.

The first two years at a Secondary School will reveal a child's special tastes and aptitudes and, for the remaining years of his school life, he can be given a choice between different groups of subjects. Those who wish to go to the University will follow the present Secondary School course, but the great majority will show an inclination towards science or languages or mathematics or art or mechanics or handwork.

A great proportion of the boys will certainly wish to develop their mechanical interests. They should be encouraged to do so. Technical education and the Boy Scouts are the only two new educational ideas that we have discovered since the Middle Ages.

By the
Rt. Hon. H. B.
Lees-Smith,
Minister of Education
in the last Labour
Government

General education need not be literary education. The present Junior Technical Schools are the equal of any others in the country and all employers speak in praise of the boys that they produce. They only devote an hour a day to definite craft work and give the rest of the time to English, history, geography, mechanical drawing and manual work.

A PART from technical education most boys will wish to spend a good deal of time on handicrafts. Their intuition is sound. It will correct the lopsidedness of our mechanised civilisation, where it is only in their leisure time that most men can enjoy the satisfaction of making anything themselves.

If these subjects are to be covered and the hours of work reduced by ten hours a week a drastic cut must come from somewhere. The most obvious subject to squeeze out is the compulsory foreign language, which in most cases is French. How many children can read or write a word of it two years after they have left school? To learn a foreign language up to the age of 16 and then drop it is a complete waste of time.

The other obvious saving of time is on advanced mathematics. A knowledge of arithmetic as far as stocks and shares is one of the tools of an industrial community, but beyond that mathematics are an abstract study which can be left to children who show a special inclination for it.

In addition to these two large savings the contents of each subject should be carefully limited to the amount that the normal child can take in his stride by the age of 16. Experience shows that a multitude of text-books covering the selected skill will rapidly appear.

Children will then be left with enough leisure of mind to develop the adaptability and free initiative which the modern world of high speed change demands.

*Holiday pictures ahead
Kodak as you go —*

Holidays are the days you will want to remember and nothing remembers like a Kodak.

Next week—next winter—the scenes will be as vivid as ever. In snapshots. So on holiday trips, don't be one who "forgot to bring the camera." You'll get so much more out of the day by taking your Kodak along....

KODAKS six-16 and six-20

"Something to be proud of".... that phrase describes these famous Kodaks. Their octagonal motif and enameled sides spell smartness. Built around Eastman's smallest, all-metal film spool, they are notably compact. Pressure on a button snaps the camera open.... the lens into position. And there is photographic capability galore. It reaches its peak in models equipped with Zeiss Tessar f4.5 lens and Compur shutter—masters of light and action. Kodak Six-16 picture size 2 1/4 x 4 1/4 inches. Kodak Six-20—2 1/4 x 3 1/2 inches.

Any camera is a better camera when it's loaded with Kodak Verichrome Film. Good snapshots come twice as easy—you get them in the shade and on cloudy days, as well as in the sun. People don't have to squint into the light—you get their natural expressions, true to life.

SUMMING UP THE OPINIONS OF 600 HONGKONG RADIO LISTENERS

ZBW CAN IMPROVE ITS PROGRAMMES, IS CONSENSUS OF OPINION BY "FIRST NIGHT"—

ATTEMPTING to analyse the hundreds of letters received in connection with the recent "Telegraph" Popular Radio Item competition is like trying to analyse the Spanish situation.

Nevertheless, several things are glaringly obvious. For instance, there is no gainsaying the fact that the majority of the 603 listeners who entered the competition are dissatisfied with ZBW's programmes. Over sixty per cent. of them said so.

Summarised, their principal complaints are:

- 1.—Lady Announcers, and affected accents of some of the male announcers.
- 2.—Gloomy Sunday Programmes.
- 3.—Too much repetition of old records, same old songs or tunes, same class of programme. Old records should be scrapped, artists should be prevented from singing the same song at each appearance, and programmes should be broken up so that listeners don't have to listen to half-an-hour's jazz or opera or piano, or whatever their pet aversion may be, at a stretch.
- 4.—Poor local talent, which should be dropped.
- 5.—Too many dull talks and not enough interesting ones. Rotary Club relays evoke much comment in this respect.
- 6.—Absence of morning programmes, shortness of present service. In the vote on morning programmes, 422 voted for and 134 voted against the proposal.
- 7.—Relays. Too much Davenry, especially when reception is bad. Not enough of other stations which would, in some cases, provide better material.
- 8.—Paucity and poorness of Children's Programmes.

A surprisingly large number of the letters are constructive in character. Take, for instance, the following letter from an Army Corporal:

"Why not write to the Units stationed in Hongkong, and see if a variety group could be found. ZBW would find the troops eager to appear before the microphone."

"Make up an 'In Town To-night' variety programme; get the Navy to join in. They have an excellent harmonica Band and some top-notch vocalists."

"If ZBW were earnestly searching for talent, they'd be able to dig up a Choir in the Royal Welch Fusiliers, same as the Welch Guards at Home."

There are many such letters. Each and all of the following suggestions could, I believe, be adopted by ZBW with beneficial results:

Debates.—Here is a rich field as yet untapped. There are half-a-dozen debating societies in Hongkong.

National Programmes.—Another untapped field. The German Club, American Club, Scottish community, Irish community and other national associations would probably be all too eager to help in this direction.

Programme Scout.—Several readers suggested that ZBW should employ a scout to chase up local talent, attend functions, etc. The B.B.C. may not do it, but the B.B.C. has more talent flocking through its doors than it can use. ZBW should go after the people and not wait for the people to approach for an audition. There's plenty of hidden talent in Hongkong, as amateur theatricals have discovered. The Club de Recreo is one comparatively untapped entertainment centre as far as broadcasting is concerned.

Auditions.—Have auditions for local artists by all means but, in view of the many complaints regarding some of the artists now appearing before the microphone they, too, should face the Audition Committee.

Relays.—Relay stations other than Davenry. The demand for this is overwhelming. Zeesens, Rome, Manila, Paris and even Moscow sometimes provide exquisite programmes, denied to the ordinary medium-wave listener. This should

"FIRST NIGHT" TAKES YOU

Behind the radio battle lines in Spain

IN a small, first-storey room in a private house not half-a-mile from the Star Ferry we are listening to the Spanish war—by radio.

Glancing round, you would see coffee cups, sandwiches, masses of wires, dials, batteries, apparatus, lights, switches.

Difficulties of locating, picking up, and separating the various Spanish stations are enormous. We are using a ten valve receiver and we are getting results.

Fighting For Air Control

Gradually the drama of the struggle for the radio stations of Spain has emerged.

Both sides are doing their utmost to gain control of the air.

Madrid, Valencia, Barcelona and San Sebastian are commanded by the Government. So are all the small amateur stations.

But the two groups tell different stories. The big stations are giving out mainly stirring speeches, cheering news, and—dance music.

The smaller amateur stations give out the numbers of wounded and dead.

SHOW SHORTS

HONGKONG is losing one of its most valued entertainers next month, with departure for Italy of Miss Elsa Alves, one of ZBW's greatest favourites. Miss Alves is departing by N.D.L. liner Scharnhorst for Italy, where she will spend two years furthering singing career under Lombardi and other great Italian maestros.

This page voices regrets of hundreds of Hongkong listeners at Miss Alves' impending departure, hopes that when she returns she'll let us hear results of work in Italy.

A.D.C. annual meeting recently elected new Committee, paved way for winter programme. Only two changes have been made to old Committee, which made 1935-36 such successful years from entertainment, financial points of view. Mr. C. Champkin, former Hon. President, and Mr. E. S. Brooks, former Hon. Secretary, exchange positions for 1936-37. Mr. Justice Lindsell, now in England, has been replaced by Mr. E. W. Hamilton. Mr. John Robertson retains Hon. Treasurerhip. Rev. Cyril Brown is Hon. Librarian. Messrs. A. M. Barton, E. Smith-Wright are there to again lend valuable advice.

OCTOBER 3 is date set for re-opening of popular social rendezvous, Hongkong Hotel's Garden. Two top-notch entertainers who hail from within stone-throw of the Blue Danube have been engaged in order to conform with Management's policy of giving socialists all that is best in way of cabaret entertainment. They are Bob and Bertie Hellman, plantists who you can hear before October 3 if you're impatient by asking any local gramophone shop for one of their recordings. Tip: Best tables are obtained by the early bookers.

LET'S end this mystery about the new Management of the Majestic Theatre. We've seen lots in Hongkong's dailies about the change, but no mention of the name of the Manager. He is C. "Old Favourites" Goldin, former Manager of Star Theatre, which developed into one of Hongkong's leading second run houses in his expert hands. Much the same policy as that adopted to make the Star Theatre popular with patrons is scheduled for the Majestic, and a revolutionary revision of admission prices has already been adopted. Thus you can see afternoon shows in Dress Circle for 30 cents, evening shows for 50 cents, with a few large seats at 70 cents. New seating accommodation, ordered from Shanghai, will be installed this month; theatre, previously a trifle echoed, will be acoustically treated for A.I. reproduction of sound.

Seville, in the hands of the rebels, puts up a losing fight.

Real Truth, Say Rebels

"Believe us, this is the real truth," says a rebel station. "Do not believe what Madrid says. On all sides our armies are advancing."

Then, in swelling volumes, comes the Government's jamming from Madrid. Music is tuned up stronger and stronger till the rebel station is completely swamped from the air.

The Government amateur stations are calling out names of towns, asking for news of certain families, giving messages from relatives.

Seville is claiming 12,000 Government prisoners. Madrid is denying it.

E.R.G. Madrid's International station, and the only one that can be picked up easily, is telling the world that all's well.

Woman Gabbles The News

Amateur announcers—mainly women—have been pressed into service. They read badly—shout excitedly.

A woman's hoarse voice gabbles out news from the rebel stronghold in English, Spanish, French and German. It's not difficult to imagine the scene.

The disorderly studio, the excited girl before the microphone, men rushing in with the latest bulletins, deleting items, adding others as she reads.

Our interpreter takes down all four versions, tries to extract sense from each.

Occasional grim comedy. "Four thousand Government men set out to attack General Mola," says one rebel station. "Fighting started, then the Government troops broke off for lunch. Our men took advantage, crept up and killed many."

Headlines, Jazz And Committeemen

Grouch

HERE'S my little grouse. The other night I cut in half way through a broadcast, heard some beautiful singing. Believing it to be a record, I took little notice, until the announcer said at the end that the broadcast was from the studio. My grouse is that a subsequent "jazz" broadcast was headlined in your newspaper instead of this singer. May I say how much I enjoyed the Jazz Recital, but surely good music should come first and I think it almost insulting to an artist of the standing of the one to whom I'm referring that she had to be an "also-ran"—A.S.

Headlines, prepared by ZBW, show no favouritism, as glance at this week's "Telegraph" show. Since Sunday headings have been "Pianoforte Recital from Studio"; "Relay from Officers' Mess, Murray Barracks"; "Recital by Elsa Alves"; "Dance Music From Hongkong Hotel"; "Jazz on Two Planes".

"That Fifth . . . Jazz"

I note with amazement the dissatisfaction of numerous readers with ZBW's Sunday programmes. It is my firm opinion that this is the only day upon which "music" is broadcast. Programmes during the remainder of the week do not justify ZBW's existence. Why, then, sacrifice Sunday, a day that should promote the finer feelings in one, to that fifth known as jazz?—BRITISH BANDSMAN.

Try your brain on this . . .

IN a cricket match between Dingley Dell and All Tumble-town the latter had first innings. Mr. Dum and Mr. Pod were first at the wickets. Mr. Dum made a splendid cut and called Mr. Pod to run. Four runs were apparently completed, but the vigilant umpires at each end called "three short," making six short runs in all. What number did Mr. Dum score?

When Dingley Dell took the wicket their champions were Mr. Luff and Mr. Strugg. The latter made a magnificent off drive and called to his colleague to run, with the result that the observant spectators applauded them for what were supposed to have been three sharp runs, but the umpires declared that there had been two short runs at each end . . . four in all. To what extent if any did this manoeuvre increase Mr. Strugg's total?

(Answer in Column Seven.)

Is This Censor Nonsense?

AT great danger to our prestige (press, a newspaper; the abbeys for Tiger, hence, having a bottle of beer in the office) we have decided to collaborate with the Hongkong Press Censorship Bureau in order to eradicate this insidious cancer of revolt that exists in the breasts of Chinese Editors.

Yesterday, we started our campaign for a cleaner and purer Press by censoring a copy of the Hong Kong News.

We believe that several portions of the leading article in this newspaper would be detrimental to public interest, likely to injure our good relations with foreign Powers, etcetera, if allowed to appear in print.

With our deletions, all likelihood of above has been removed, as readers will see for themselves:

"This—censorship in Hongkong is no—good to us," the censored article begins. "Where do these—old—who make the—laws of this Colony think they—get off. What we—Chinese newspapers want is some—freedom. To—truth this—censorship business, if you ask our opinion, all we can say is—"

"VERITAS" has consented to assist our campaign for Brighter and Better Censorship.

This is how he will publish censored scores of the first Test Match in Australia.

It Must Be The Weather

MR. E. H. Hunsworth, at the Kowloon Magistracy this week, fined a recalcitrant motorist $25 for a traffic breach, and warned him that a further appearance in court would result in imprisonment.

This is what is known in meteorological circles as "Fine to-day—cooler to-morrow."

Bath Tub Ballads

WHICH way does your bath-water plug as it pours through the plug-hole?

This is a most serious question. There comes a moment in the lives of most of us when the last of the bath-water departs into the unknown with a slightly offensive chuckle.

And the inevitable prelude to this guttural farewell is an eddy. Down in Australia they've discovered that their bath-water swirls away in an anti-clockwise direction, whereas in Britain the method is clockwise.

Scientists suggest that tests should be made throughout the world in order to discover whether the water swirls in opposite directions in opposite hemispheres.

The procedure they suggest is to drop bits of paper or grains of oil-ment into the water as it runs out of the bath.

Yesterday we spent an unusually hygienic afternoon sitting in a series of baths and casting our oatmeal on the waters.

Our log reads:
2.30 p.m.—Innauled up plug.
2.31 p.m.—Soundings show depth of 4½ inches. Visibility good.

2.31½ p.m.—Depth 2 inches. First sign of eddy. Poured out too much oatmeal and obliterated eddy. Visibility poor.

2.32 p.m.—Depth 1 inch. Outlet pipe completely oatmeal. Practically hailing out oatmeal to prevent blockage of outlet pipe.

2.33 p.m.—Depth still 1 inch. Outlet pipe completely oatmeal. Up. Visibility negligible.

2.35 p.m.—Dredging.

2.37 p.m.—Dredging.

2.40 p.m.—Depth nil. Unable to take observations, as water and remains of oatmeal disappear before we could get our feet off the horizon. Ties fouled with oatmeal. Temperature rising.

2.45 p.m.—Fresh attempt. Depth 8 inches. Haul up plug.

2.47 p.m.—Depth 2 inches. Visibility negligible. Eddy appears. Six grains oatmeal overboard.

2.48 p.m.—Depth 1 inch. Eddy widening but oatmeal still undecided which way to go.

2.48½ p.m.—Oatmeal's course: quarter circle clockwise, change, quarter circle anti-clockwise, reverse, figure of eight, glide, full loop, Immemorial turn, curtsy and Out.

3.50 p.m.—Hopelessly out of our depth. Sincerely hope our oatmeal will not come out in MacWhirter's bath.

3.55 p.m.—Having bath.

Bats In The Belfry

Notice in the "Telegraph" this week that a couple of chappies are in training to push a billiard ball four miles—they are not allowed to touch it with their hands or feet unless with special permission.

We suppose they will be allowed to bowl it along with their forehead occasionally.

We often wonder who buys all these wagers. We are going to be one of them. We shall challenge our landlord to push a wheelbarrow across Asia, hopping on one foot. And when he comes back and puts his barrow wearily down outside the vacant flat, our next-door neighbour will say: "Kelly? He left here a week ago."

And we shall go to the Chief Accountant of the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels and say to him: "Excuse me, but would you mind bowling a hoop around the world for a bet?"

And then we will go along to the Legislative Council and say: "We have a new game to sit on a two hundred foot pole for about eleven years."

And when we have got them all sitting on poles, and pushing barrows, and walking from Hongkong to Beechumaland, and shipping on banana-skins from Shanghai to Singapore, we will sit down, fold our hands one within the other, and begin to enjoy life.

THE Miles Quadruplets were born at St. Neots in England on November 28th, 1935. Never before have Quadruplets survived when three of them were boys. Also the babies were over 7 weeks premature, and far less than normal weight—Michael for instance weighed only 2 lbs. 13 ozs.

With every resource at their disposal those in charge selected Cow & Gate—and the Quads today are normal weight—3 of them slightly over—a marvellous result! Dear Kiddies,

What a lot of entries you sent in last week! Looks as if you are fond of correcting other people's errors; doesn't it? Most of you hit upon the mistakes in the eight little pictures. These, in brief were (1), handle missing on watering-can; (2), wrong kind of leaves for pear tree; (3), cardinal points wrongly placed on vane; (4), title on wrong cover of book; (5), goose should have webbed feet; (6), lid too big for box; (7), spout of kettle too low; (8), head of hammer wrong way round.

After carefully studying the entries, taking age and neatness into account, I award the Senior prize of three 6-ounce blocks of Cadbury's milk chocolate, kindly donated by Messrs. J. D. Hutchison and Co., Ltd., to:

Zulefma Ribeiro (aged 13), 24 Granville Road, Kowloon.

The Junior prize, also of three 6-ounce blocks of Cadbury's chocolate, goes to:

Joan Gulmarg (aged 8), 71 Wong-helchong Road.

Specially commended amongst the Seniors are Andrew Choa, Ada Sufiad, Betty Wadmore, Margaret Choa, Margaret Tatz, Leo Silva, Kenneth Ho, Vera P. Dhabher, Elfrida Garcia, Maisie Law, Dorothy Lee and Margie Xavier.

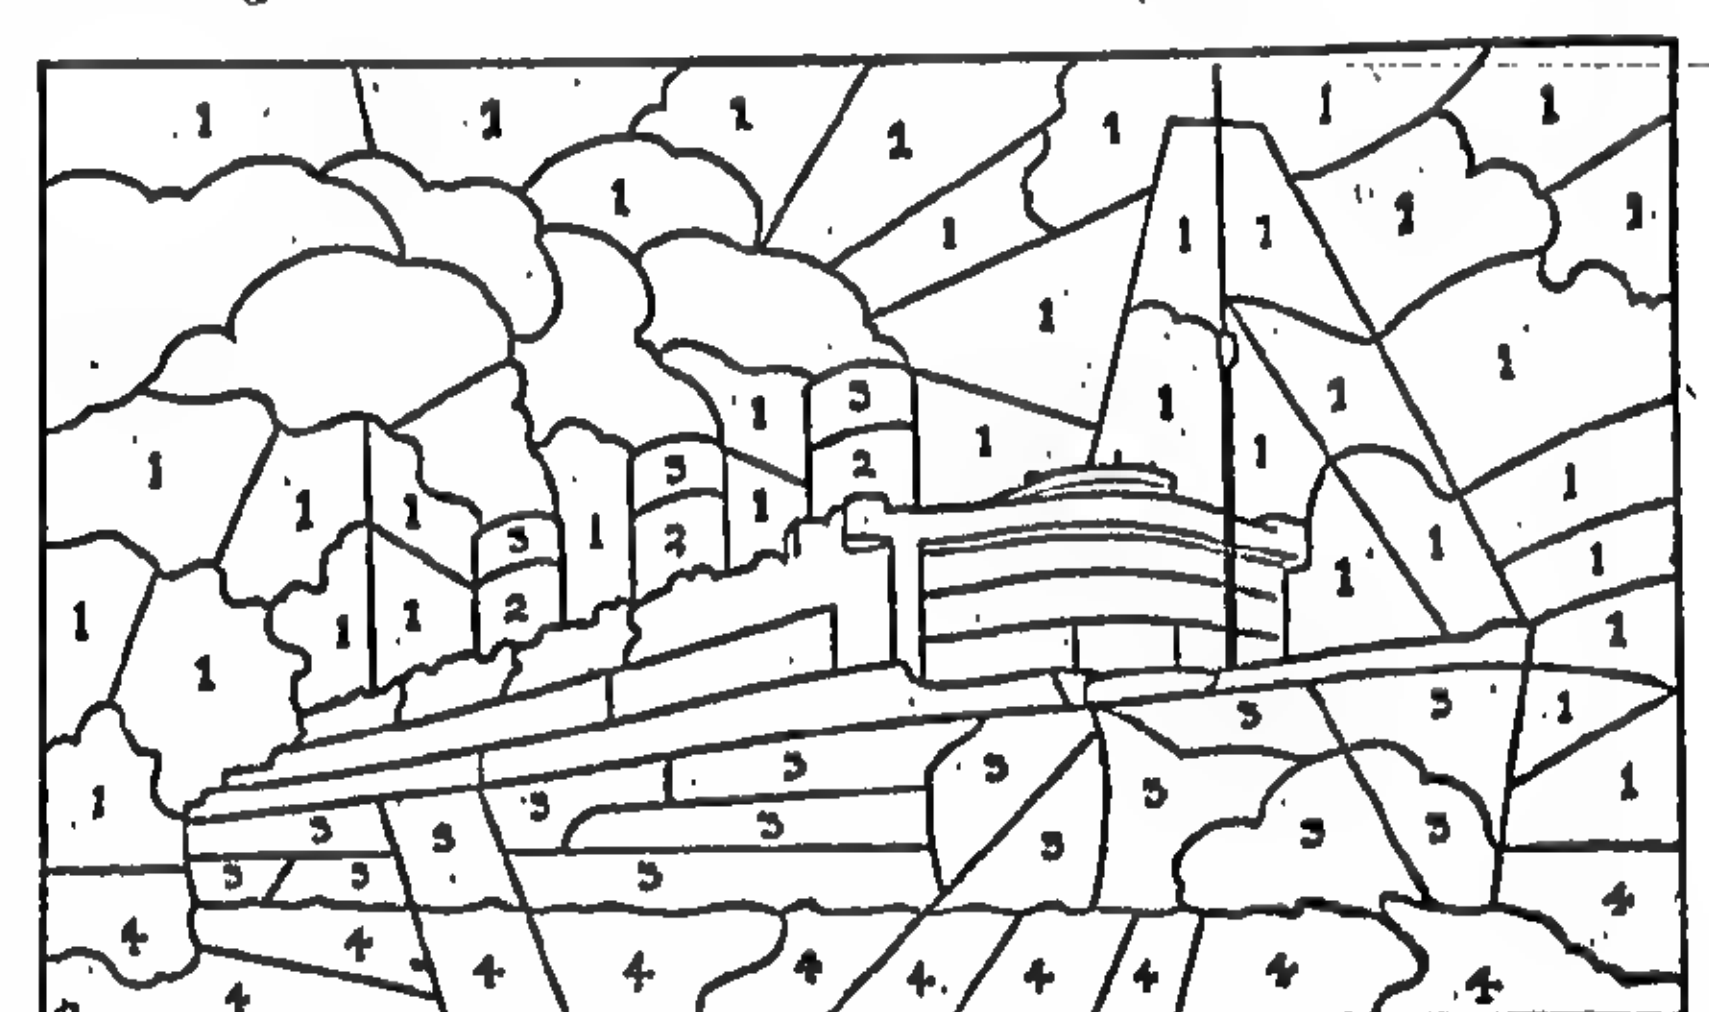

Juniors commended are Netta MacWilliam, Corrado Gorla, Binoy Deb, Helene Ozorio, Gilly Stewart, and Violeta dos Remedios.

Will the winners call at the "Telegraph" office for their prizes?

Now, children, I expect you have all read this week about the British liner, Queen Mary, winning the Blue Riband of the Atlantic. I wonder if you know how she is coloured? If not, you can learn here.

All you have to do is to take your points or crayons and use four colours only. Colour all the spaces numbered one in the picture Light Blue; all those numbered 2 in Red; the 3's in Black; and the 4's in Green. Leave the other spaces white.

There will again be two prizes—one for children from 10 to 14, and the other for those under 10. Age, neatness and good colouring will be taken into account in making the awards. Send your entries to Uncle Eddie, c/o "Hongkong Telegraph," so as to reach him not later than 4 p.m. on Wednesday. Now, kiddies, let's see how neat a job you can make of the picture.

I have done this colouring entirely by myself.

WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' PENSIONS IN HONGKONG

Hongkong Civil Servants Mulct Of Millions Paid Into Fund During Past Thirty Years

GOVERNMENT MAY HAVE TO FIND MONEY IT SPENT ADOPTION OF RECOMMENDATIONS MADE TO COLONIAL OFFICE BY COMMISSION WOULD COST COLONY MILLIONS

"Telegraph" Staff Representative

LAST WEEK THE "TELEGRAPH" EXCLUSIVELY PUBLISHED PERTINENT EXTRACTS FROM THE BULKY REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PENSIONS TO WIDOWS AND ORPHANS OF OFFICERS OF THE COLONIAL SERVICE, WHICH WAS PRESENTED TO PARLIAMENT RECENTLY.

Extraordinary interest has been manifest in this Report by members of the civil service in Hongkong.

Hundreds of these officials believe that the Widows' and Orphans' Scheme, as administered in Hongkong, is both unjust and unequitable. They look to an adoption of the recommendations of the Committee as a means of ending a grievance that has existed since Government took over the Fund in 1908.

Previous to 1908 Widows and Orphans pensions in the Hongkong Civil Service was administered by Trustees, to whom was paid four per cent. of the salaries of all civil servants participating in the Fund, plus a quota contribution (amounting, in 1907, to about 50 per cent. of the total paid by civil servants).

In 1908 the accumulated reserve of this Fund was $414,199. By enacting the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Scheme Ordinance, Government took over this reserve and since 1908 has paid all monies contributed by officers into the Colony's revenue.

In this manner, Government has, in less than 30 years, accumulated a total of $1,829,618 excess receipts over expenditure in moneys paid by civil servants for their widows and orphans.

Including the $414,199 reserve in 1908, civil servants have, to June 30, 1936, contributed $4,304,249, to the Widows' and Orphans' Scheme. During the same period, Government has paid out only $2,474,631.

The excess receipts over expenditure has, however, not been allowed to accumulate. Every penny of this money has been spent by Government.

If the Secretary of State for the Colonies were to insist, as he did with reference to the 1908 Ordinance, on the adoption of the Central Fund recommended by the recent Commission, the Hongkong Government could quite conceivably be called upon to immediately find the excess contributions which, since 1908, have each year been expended as part of the Colony's general revenues.

I understand from a reliable source that the Hongkong Government is opposed to any alteration to the system that has been in existence in Hongkong during the past 28 years.

Such opposition is understandable, in view of the finances of this Colony, which might be seriously embarrassed if called upon to suddenly find the $1,829,618 of excess which has been spent by Government as part of its revenue.

It is interesting to note from a reference to Hansard that the Government of 1907-08 was opposed to the scheme which the Hongkong Government is now loath to see ended. Despite Hongkong's objection, however, the Secretary of State for the Colonies ruled that the scheme must be adopted. What the Secretary of State for the Colonies did in 1908 could quite conceivably be done in 1936.

The existing Widows' and Orphans' Pension Scheme has been a bigger gold-mine to Government than the surplus of $1,829,618 indicated.

Previous to the passage of the 1908 Ordinance, which transferred the fund from Trustees to Government, the Hongkong Treasury subsidised the Fund to the extent of approximately 60 per cent. of officers' contributions, i.e., for every $1 contributed by officers, Government paid 60 cents into the Fund.

Since 1908 Government has not paid one cent towards pensions for widows and orphans. Withdrawal of the subsidy has meant a saving to Government, since 1908, of approximately $2,340,000. Add this to the $1,829,618 surplus, and you discover that Government, as a result of the adoption of the present scheme, has saved a total of $4,169,618 at the expense of widows and orphans.

NO INTEREST Because Government has spent all this money as part of its General Revenue, no interest has accumulated, as would have been the case had the old Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund been in operation. It is hard to understand what total the credit of such a Fund would have reached this year, if the money paid in by civil servants, and by Government as subsidy, have been allowed to accumulate. At even 2½ per cent. compound interest, the total would have been enormous.

How Proposed Scheme For Central Pension Fund Compares With Existing Scheme

ALTHOUGH Hongkong Government is stated to be opposed to the recommendation of the Commission on Pensions to Widows and Orphans that a central fund be established, there is always the possibility that the Secretary of State for the Colonies may insist on the repeal of the 1908 Ordinance which his predecessor forced on this Colony.

In that event the Hongkong Government may be called upon to find the surplus $1,829,618 which would ordinarily have accumulated under the old Fund, but which has instead been spent by the Government.

How does the proposed Central Fund Scheme compare with the Scheme now in existence in Hongkong?

The "Telegraph" has prepared the following table. It shows that adoption of the proposed Central Scheme will enormously benefit the Hongkong civil servant, almost half of whose annual contribution of four per cent of his total salary now goes to Government instead of to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund.

CENTRAL WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' PENSION FUND SUGGESTED BY COMMISSION

THE Government subsidy should take the form of a percentage of the officer's salary, paid concurrently with the officer's own contribution.

If an officer is dismissed from the Service, all contributions should cease; a bachelor or widower without pensionable children should receive a refund of his contributions without interest, subject to the deduction of any sums owing to the Government; and a married man or widower without pensionable children should remain registered for the pension earned by his past contributions.

The refund to be granted in the case of a bachelor who dies or leaves the Scheme or Fund from any cause should be his own contributions with the addition of compound interest at 2½ per cent.

The pensionable age for boys shall be 21 years.

We are actually advised that there is reason to believe that Colonies which have set up Schemes have been subsidising them to a considerably less extent than was originally intended.

A Scheme to which no actuarial review is periodically applied may operate to the serious disadvantage of the contributors.

was hotly opposed by Unofficial Members.

In opposing the proposal the Hon. Mr. Murray Stewart said:

"The bargain proposed for civil servants by this Bill resembles the proverbial pig in the poke. Three lakhs into general revenue in one entry and the prospect of receiving $10,000 per annum and paying $5,000 against it for as long as the gods will continue the luck of the Fund—this advantage we can all understand.

"Oh, but it is said that Government isn't going to make anything out of this transfer. In the long run the benefits are all in favour of the contributors. If, however, the present proposals are highly advantageous to the contributors in the long run, they must be equally disadvantageous to the Hongkong taxpayer.

"I am sure no taxpayer would be likely to grudge whatever benefits are likely to accrue under this Bill to the wives of departed officials, but as so much has been made of the liability of the Fund, I must say as to the prospect of it becoming insolvent unless taken over, that at least the Hongkong public may be pardoned for desiring to know a little more definitely than they do at present the nature of the liability to which this Ordinance commits them.

SIR HENRY POLLOCK

It is interesting to note that the Ordinance was also opposed by the Hon. Sir (then Mr.) Henry Pollock. Far from being advantageous to their widows and orphans, the 1908 Ordinance has profited the Hongkong Government, and the Hongkong Government alone, to the extent of at least $5,000,000.

WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' PENSION SCHEME IN FORCE IN HONGKONG

No Government Subsidy since 1908.

An officer who, being a bachelor or a widower without pensionable children, leaves the public service... on dismissal shall, if he elects to discontinue being a contributor, receive back half the contributions which he has made without interest thereon. Any officer who retires or is deprived of his office, but who is not granted a pension, may continue to contribute on the salary which he was receiving at the date of such retirement or deprivation, at the same rate and subject to the same terms and conditions as if he had continued in the public service and continued to receive the salary which he was receiving at the rate of such retirement or deprivation.

An officer who, being a bachelor, leaves the public service... shall, if he elects to discontinue being a contributor, receive back half the contributions which he has made without interest thereon; and if an officer who is a bachelor dies while in the service one half of the contributions made by him shall be paid without interest to his legal representative.

The allowance or pension to an orphan shall cease in the case of a male at eighteen years, and in the case of a female on marriage or at the age of 21 years.

No Government subsidy in Hongkong since 1908 Ordinance was passed. All contributions have been by civil servants.

No actuarial review has been applied in Hongkong since 1908.

LIVED APART FOR 52 YEARS

Auckland (N.Z.), Aug. 20. AFTER 52 years of married life, during which she had never shared a home with her husband, a woman has been granted a divorce.

The suit, which was undefended, was brought on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Annie Christina Clayden told Acting-Chief Justice Reed, in the Supreme Court at Gisborne, that she had been married for more than half a century to William Clayden, but had never lived with him.

There were no children of the marriage.

She had earned her own living and had been using her maiden name ever since the wedding day, August 6, 1884.

Her husband, she said, had made repeated promises that he would make a home for her, but had never done so.

She had always been ready and willing to live with him.

Corroborative evidence was called and Mr. Justice Reed granted a decree nisi, remarking that it was an astonishing case.

In recognition of the services rendered to Indo-China by Mr. Kwok Chan, compradore of the Banque de l'Indochine, and Mr. Chan Sul-ky, Manager of the Kwong Hong Hong firm, the Emperor of Annam has conferred on them the decoration of Knight of the Dragon of Annam.

No Camp This Year For H.K. Volunteers

MONEY SHORTAGE

"Telegraph" Staff Reporter

FOR the first time in many years, the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps will not go in to camp this winter.

Financial stringency and the extra expense incurred owing to the high number of non-British units who joined recently is stated to be responsible for decision to cancel the usual training arrangements in camp.

It is understood, however, that arrangements are being made for a limited camping season, which will be attended by the Portuguese Company only.

One or two other units may also encamp with units of the Regular army later in the season.

"Learn to Feed Properly"

(By A Medical Correspondent)

Oxford, Aug. 28.

FOOD is big news to-day. What to eat and when to eat it is the vital concern of every man, woman, and child in Britain. So the perfect diet has been evolved.

At the British Medical Association at Oxford, scientific experts outlined what they considered the "ideal diet."

Then, this week-end, is published the report of the League of Nations on the most nutritive foods available for every household.

If You're Normal

To-day, I asked Major-General Sir Robert McCarrison, one of the delegates to the B.M.A. conference, to give Sunday Chronicle readers his idea of the best good-health diet.

And this is what he said every normal person should eat:

A good whole cereal grain or a good wholemeal bread.
Milk, butter, cheese, curds, and buttermilk.

Eggs.
Green leaf vegetables.
Root vegetables—potatoes, carrots, etc.

Fruit, meat, and water.

"Using them properly," said Sir Robert, "there is little need to worry about the exact amounts of this or that chemical ingredient of food that might be considered necessary for normal nutrition."

"These foodstuffs provide them all and in due amount and proportion one to another. When the people learn to feed themselves properly there will be less need for surgery, for there will be a distinct falling off in the numbers of victims to internal diseases."

The League's Diet

Here are some of the conclusions contained in the London report of the League of Nations on the problem of nutrition.

Milk is rich in "good" protein, very rich in minerals, and is the only food containing vitamins A, B, C, and D. Eggs come as a close second, and are followed by liver.

Other "highly protective" foods are fish—herrings, etc.—green, vegetables, salads, raw fruit, fruit juices, butter, cod-liver oil, and yeast.

A LETTER WRITTEN BY CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, in strong slanting characters, wrote in the year 1492 from America to Hispaniola, West Indies. His was the first letter despatched from the American Continent.

The letter, until recently in the possession of the Spanish Royal family, is now in Paris, and is being sent to Messrs. Maggs's bookshop, in Conduit-street, London.

Columbus wrote to his lieutenant, whom he had left behind at Hispaniola with 32 men, appointing him governor, and enjoining him to take charge of certain personal properties there. The position appears to have been no more secure than certain public offices in Spain to-day, for when Columbus returned, his property had been destroyed, and most of his men murdered by the natives.

FIRST LETTER TO EUROPE

A second letter also being sent to London was the earliest addressed from America to Europe. It was sent from Santo Domingo, Hispaniola Island, on January 12, 1492, by Diego, son of Christopher Columbus, Archbishop of Toledo. In it, Diego Columbus described his life on Hispaniola, and the activities of the Spaniards in the new colonies under his rule.

They found the white man was in bad repute because of the activities of callous traders who had caused the natives to look with suspicion upon the Spanish soldiers, and with bitter scepticism upon the Spanish priesthood. He addresses an appeal to the Cardinal, as the man most likely to influence the King, to send out priests of good repute.

Beauty Starves For Honour's Sake

New York, Aug. 25.

A BEAUTIFUL Spanish divorcee is starving herself to death at her San Francisco home to vindicate her honour.

While attending a party she was insulted by a Nicaraguan. Her brother challenged the man to a duel.

"The Nicaraguan refused to leave or to apologise," the woman told the police, who tried to make her eat, "so I have decided to punish him by my death." Since Friday she has taken nothing but drugs.

A QUART OF ANAESTHETIC FOR ONE TOOTH

AND THE PATIENT
'WOKE' TOO SOON

"We used a quart of mixed chloroform and ether," said the dentist calmly, "but he began to come round before I'd finished, so we had to give him some more. However, the tooth came out beautifully in the end."

Mr. Sidney Kemp, dentist to the London Zoo, which, incidentally, claims to be the only Zoo in the world to give its animals regular dental treatment—was describing the biggest job he has ever undertaken (writes a Morning Post representative). And the removal of a tooth from a fully-grown bear is no mean feat.

"He was the pet of the Naval School of Gunnery at Whale Island," said Mr. Kemp, "and he suffered badly from toothache. The authorities there appealed to the Zoo for help, and I was sent down. The bear weighed about a quarter of a ton, and as he was in a pretty bad temper things didn't look too promising. But we lured him into a sealed box with brown bread and treacle, and then started to pump in the anaesthetic."

"After we had given him a quart, a squad of six sailors hauled his head out of the box and I started work, while my assistant held the jaws open with a large vice. And then, before I had finished, things started happening."

AN AWKWARD MOMENT

"Hurry up," cried my assistant, suddenly; "he is coming round and I won't be able to keep his jaws open much longer." And there I was with my hands inside the mouth of a bear and likely to lose them at any moment. In desperation we heaved the animal back into the box and gave him yet more anaesthetic, and then I managed to finish the operation. But it wasn't very amusing at the time."

Mr. Kemp has been the Zoo's dentist for about twelve years, and during that time has had many queer patients. Practically the only animals he has never had to deal with are the elephants.

"I don't think an elephant could have toothache," he said, "its teeth are great solid blocks, and you could use them as door-steps. But I had to deal with a hippopotamus once—he smiled—and instead of putting on the dressing with a small brush I had to use a sponge."

In his whole career only one "patient" has bitten him, a mongoose. "But I was attacked once by a kangaroo and punched in the solar plexus," he added. "I didn't get my breath back for about ten minutes."

Animals as a whole, in Mr. Kemp's opinion, have very good teeth, the ones that suffer most being those most nearly like man, especially the chimpanzees.

"With few exceptions you couldn't have better patients," he told me. "They are far better than humans."

OSTEOPATHY
Confidence Brute Force;
Tricks Ignorance
—Says Surgeon —Says Woman

Osteopathy had a bad day at the British Medical Conference at Oxford last month despite the Oxford Dictionary, which says—
Osteopathy: A theory of disease and method of cure which assumes that deformation of the skeleton and consequent interference with the adjacent nerves and blood-vessels are the cause of most diseases.
Mr. A. S. Blundell Bankart, the Middlesex Hospital orthopaedic surgeon, gave this definition at the conference:—
Osteopathy is an American stunt based on the unsupported assertion that practically all diseases are due to imaginary displacements of the spine.
He said: "It has been investigated up to the hilt, and it has been found wanting."
He then quoted a definition given him by an elderly woman a few weeks ago. It was:—
Osteopathy: Brute force and bloody ignorance.
That, said Mr. Bankart, was the best definition he had heard.

"I WON'T GO TO HOLLYWOOD"

"LONDON ONLY" IF SHE FILMS AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, in the last few days, has made Gracie Fields three offers—one for £60,000, and one for £50,000.

All she has to do is to give them one film.

And Gracie has replied by saying that she is seriously thinking of retiring at the end of the year. Last night she was asked about it. "I have not signed to make a picture for Fox-Twentieth Century, as is rumoured," she stated.

"I have had an offer from them, but I have also had offers from most of the others."

Since it became known that Gracie's present film contract with Associated Talking Pictures expired after she had made one more film, the Wardour-street executives have all been trying to get her services.

MAYBE—

Her pictures are worth £150,000

Fate

MISS KATHLEEN McHUGH, aged fifty-two, was in Barcelona, governess to a Spanish family, little more than a month ago. Then came the revolution.

A street crier warned British subjects to hurry to the port. Miss McHugh saw fighting in the streets, saw two friends shot down, before she reached the British warship which brought her home to England.

This month, a lorry knocked her down, killed her—in Fleet-street, E.C.

In this country alone. But Gracie has made one stipulation.

Any films she makes must be produced in London.

She will not go to Hollywood. So Hollywood is willing to come to her.

Whether she stays with her present company or accepts one of the offers from the American producers who would be willing to make her films in this country—the three offers are the highest bids ever made for a film star in Britain—depends on the seriousness with which she contemplates retirement.

"I may not go on. I haven't made up my mind, though," she said.

DANZIG AS MILITARY BASE

SECRET BERLIN ARMS PLAN REPORTED

Warsaw, Aug. 30.

THAT the Free City of Danzig is to be militarised and turned into a big military port and base in the North-East of Europe is reported in a sensational statement in the Polish Press to-night.

It is stated that three regiments of infantry and three batteries of artillery, with several squadrons of bombing planes, are to form the nucleus of the Danzig army.

All Storm Troop and other Nazi organisations in the Free City are to be transformed into a regular standing army under German officers which will be increased by a further 5,000 men in the autumn.

Owing to Danzig's acute financial difficulties, Germany is to provide for the upkeep of the army.

This sensational decision was taken some time ago, and revealed at manoeuvres held by the Nazi military organisations of Danzig in Eastern Prussia this week-end.

Officers of the German Reichwehr assisted in the manoeuvres and will take up the training of the new Danzig army, which will be placed under the immediate command of German Army Headquarters at Malbork, in East Prussia.

Herr Greiser, Nazi President of the Free City, attending the manoeuvres, declared that the army is being created "to be ready for the approaching day when Hitler will announce to the world the independence of Danzig, as he announced the freedom of the Rhineland."

TRAINING IN SECRET

Special German staff officers have arrived at Danzig to start supervising the military training in accordance with plans prepared in Berlin.

Training will take place in private for the time being. Neither the soldiers nor the officers will wear uniforms, but the organisation of the army is to be on the German model, and will be carried through with the definite object of incorporating it into the German Reichwehr very soon.

Danzig is also looked upon as likely to form the principal German naval base in Eastern Europe when Nazi plans mature in that part of the world.

STEP BACK A PACE AND GUESS

WHICH WOMEN LEAD THE WORLD?

Take cover from your feminine relations and think up an answer to this—

"Who are the world's outstanding women?" They tried it on a business and professional women's congress in Paris and the voting was:

Frances Perkins (U.S. Secretary of Labour); Alexandra Kollontai (Soviet Russian Ambassador to Norway); Marie Curie-Joliot (French Secretary for Scientific Research); Amy Morrison (British airwoman); Selma Lagerlof (Swedish writer). Mrs. Roosevelt came sixth and Lady Astor and Miss Margaret Bondfield tied for seventh place.

THEY ARE DOUBTFUL

Most celebrated people a Home paper questioned recently were reluctant to hazard an opinion.

Mr. George Bernard Shaw summed up the point of view of the "Unable-to-decide." He said:

"First of all I want to know what is meant by an 'outstanding' woman. I could think of many women who might easily be substituted for the Paris list, but I will not commit myself to a choice." Miss Nancy Price, now starring in "Whiteoaks" at the Playhouse, produced a comprehensive list.

"Queen Mary," she said, "is the outstanding woman of our time. But other women who have done a great deal are perhaps not known to the million. They are not spectacular."

SO MANY!

"My own choice would be Dame Laura Knight, Dame Rachel Crowley, Dr. Maude Royden, Dame Ethel Smyth, Dame Louise Mallory, Miss Lillian Barker, Commandant Mary Allen, Victoria Sackville-West and Virginia Woolf."

Another actress, Miss Ivy St. Heller, said she would have to think about the question for at least three days. "There are so many great women in the world," she added, plaintively.

A Canadian woman on her way back from the Vimy memorial pilgrimage said at once: "Queen Mary, of course. She must be the best known and most widely respected woman in the world."

Droughts Don't Worry

This Farmer

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 30. Hot winds, searing sunshine, and discouraging "continued dry" weather forecasts are no worry to Amos Eberhart, an enterprising farmer who owns a 200-acre truck farm near here.

His 30 different varieties of crops have suffered little from the drought.

Immediately after the 1934 drought Eberhart built an overhead irrigation system which draws water by gravity from seven large ponds. A 1914 automobile engine furnishes the power which throws a spray 30 feet and soaks the crops thoroughly.

Eberhart calls his farm "Junkville" because most of his "improvements" have been made with second-hand materials. During a recent trip to Evansville he purchased a number of refrigerator parts, discarded because of imperfections, and used the parts in building a white-lined creamery, brooder house, and garage. He is assembling presently materials for a house which he expects will cost $150.

Eberhart employs five men permanently and has as many as 20 on the payroll during the busy season.—United Press.

Danger of World-Wide Food Shortage

New York, Aug. 30.

THE possibility of a world food shortage next year is emphasised by the great drought, which is now in its third month.

This year's American maize crop, it is estimated, will be 900 million bushels below the five-year average—and the crop is declining at the rate of 20 million bushels a day.

The United States, once the chief exporter of the world's maize, is now importing heavily, ranking second to Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The following figures show the magnitude of America's slump in maize:

YEAR'S TOTAL PRODUCTION
1933 2,325,000,000 bushels | 1935 1,572,000,000 bushels
ACREAGE IN MAIZE
1934 93,500,000 | 1935 98,500,000

Despite this increase in acreage, however, the estimated yield per acre for 1935 will be 15 7-10 bushels as against 10 bushels in the drought year of 1934.

Barley, on which stock-feeders rely when maize is scarce, also shows a serious decline, while the hay crop is 7,000,000 tons below the five-year average.

Already there is some prospect that wheat crops will not meet the world's normal demand for bread. The shortage of feed crops for cattle indicates that the food scarcity will also extend to meat.

Is YOUR Boy the ONE in TEN?

RECENT investigations disclose the alarming fact that nine out of ten school children have decayed teeth. Dental science warns that this menace must be combated.

Germ Acids form from fermenting food particles hidden in crevices between teeth, in imperfections of the enamel and where teeth meet gums, justly called the Danger Zone. These Germ Acids lead to decay and gum irritations.

You can neutralize the harmful acids merely by brushing with Squibb Dental Cream, a pleasant, economical dentifrice because it is an antacid preparation. It also brings out the natural whiteness of the teeth with perfect safety to enamel and gums for it contains no grit or astringents.

Combat decay scientifically. Put Squibb Dental Cream on guard in the Danger Zone.

SHANGHAI SELECTS SIX PLAYERS FOR INTERPORT

By "Veritas"

Being The Story Of The Kowloon Indian Tennis Club

FROM OBSCURITY TO TITLE
HOLDERS IN SIX YEARS

TO state that the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club has won the "C" Division of the Hongkong Tennis League for the first time in the history of the club is, though interesting, merely stating a fact. It doesn't tell you the how and why of one of the hardest-earned achievements in the annals of Colony tennis. It doesn't reveal how a certain number of young Indians, madly keen on the game of tennis, grabbed hold of all the text books they could find, studiously read them, then just as studiously, and without any other assistance, went on to the court for hours at a time and practised strokes, tactics and technique until six years later, those same players, or rather some of them, helped their club to win a championship. But the story is, I think, worth telling, and here it is.

First The Blade

IT was in the winter of 1929-30 that I received my introduction to Hongkong tennis and it was on the grass courts of the Y.M.C.A. in King's Park. In those days the old stalwarts of "Y" tennis such as the Price brothers and "Pa" White were still going strong and next door to us, whether we went up on a Saturday afternoon, a Sunday afternoon or any time after 5 o'clock during the week we would find four to half a dozen young Indians, knocking up, often tempestuously on adjoining courts. There was Feroz Ali, considerably more advanced than his clubmates, Firdos Khan, who looked with an accuracy which would not be disgraceful to that modern King of Lobbers, G. P. Hughes, then S. R. Suleh of the spin, forehand drive, Mahan Singh, developing style and doing his utmost to improve a refractory volley, Iqbal Singh, a young player of exceptional promise, and M. A. Khan, stolid, but useful in most phases of the game. These were the pioneers of the K.I.T.C. league team which to-day has brought honour to the club by winning the "C" Division championship. And how they practised! We on the Y.M.C.A. courts caught a breath of their enthusiasm, and often we would engage each other in friendly sets.

Then The Ear

IN 1931 the K.I.T.C. joined the "C" Division. They didn't perform at all impressively. But they profited from the experience, and in 1932 finished well in the top half of the table. By this time Feroz Ali and Firdos Khan, Mahan Singh and I. Singh had developed into first-rate pairs, and it was quite clear that if they continued on the lines they had started, they would be as good as anyone in the "C" Division. Firdos's books were being regularly read, and they were always anxious to improve themselves by playing with better-class opponents. I remember that the Rumsdell cousins, always willing to help enthusiastic, spent several Sundays on the K.I.T.C. courts helping these young players with valuable advice and by playing with them. Their progress was maintained, with more and more members taking up the game. Then they lost Feroz Ali, the club's inspiration. He suffered from a serious illness which kept him out of the game for months, and afterwards he found business and other duties making such a heavy call on his time that he had to give up the game as a regular recreation. The club suffered a couple of lean years, but it was still flourishing and continued to enjoy the services of Firdos Khan, M. A. Khan, Wahab, who spent a lot of time in Canton, but often played during week-ends, Mahan Singh, I. Singh and, until he left the Colony, Suleh.

Then The Full Corn

THEN, came this summer. Enlisting the services of the Hussain brothers, and retaining the two pillars, Firdos Khan, M. A. Khan, and adding T. M. G. Devan, the Kowloon Indians started the season with high hopes. They were well justified. Sweeping aside all opposition (though not always as easily as it sounds) they found themselves last Thursday with the championship within their grasp. They had to beat Recreation on their own courts. Fortunately, I think, Wahab was at their disposal. He played magnificent tennis to help win two and a half sets, and with the Hussain brothers coming up to expectations, the K.I.T.C. fulfilled a quest started in 1929. It is a distinction richly deserved, and it is made further historic by the fact that for the first time the "C" Division has passed out of the hands of a Chinese tennis club. When the Shield was first presented for a hardcourt competition in 1916 and remained as such until 1930, it was won by the C.R.C., Chinese Y.M.C.A. and South China A.A. In 1931 it became a "C" Division competition and for three years was won by the C.R.C. In 1934 South China A.A. annexed the shield and last year it returned to the C.R.C. Now the championship has gone to the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club, and no title has been more worthily won.

Test Selectors Must Be Delighted

LESLIE Ames, the Kent wicket-keeper, was the last player to be selected for the M.C.C. Test team to tour Australia this coming winter; but his inclusion must be giving the selectors intense satisfaction. Ames has been back in Big Cricket for just under three weeks (a tiresome bout of muscular rheumatism having kept him out of the game for three parts of the summer) and during that brief period he has scored some 500 runs, including three centuries. He re-entered county cricket against Essex last month, but did nothing of note, Kent being badly beaten. The following week Ames collected 120 from the Yorkshire attack. A week later he smote the All-India bowling for a classical 145. Yesterday, batting for an England XI against the Indians he made another 107. It was in anticipation of such batting form that Ames secured a place in the Test side, but it is doubtful whether the most optimistic of the selection committee imagined the young wicketkeeper would re-develop his prowess to this extent in such a short time. It is another example of the truth which can often be found resting behind that old tag "It's an ill wind..." Hammond, whose batting performances during the last few weeks has been the talk of the cricket world was kept out of the game during the first part of this season owing to an operation. He returned to discover a new lease of life and at present is batting as brilliantly, and consistently, as during that remarkable winter of 1928-9 when, against the cream of Australia's bowling talent, he helped himself to centuries and double-centuries with the same ease as he would shell peas.

SUCCESSFUL SHANGHAI CRICKET TRIAL

HALF-CENTURIES BY BARSON AND BOOTH

H. V. PARKER, SINCE SELECTED
HITS UP 42 NOT OUT

(By C. W. Tombs)

Selectors watching yesterday's Interport trial at the S.C.C. ground might have had some of their previous impressions confirmed, but it is doubtful if they learned much else, for the More Probables batted up leisurely 191 for eight and were overtaken by darkness before the whole side had taken part in the defence, the men under Pat Madar having reached 165 in the a.m. knock.

Both Barson, the Interport Skipper, and Booth, retired, after reaching the half century and only nightfall prevented H. V. Parker from reaching his fifties—nightfall and the slow bowlers, for Parker seemed to be unable to do anything with Shroff, Pat Madar and Cochran, whereas he hit out freely at Bailey, Stokes and Boddy. Anstee alone among the slower trundlers was slowed, 10 being taken off one over. Lucas, who has been taking his game easily this season after the accident to his knee last summer, was not given an opportunity to show what he could do with the bat, but in Barson's attack he was the most useful man, taking four wickets for 34, the next best being Sevenoaks' two for 12.

Scoring was extremely slow at times, and it took Madar's XI just on three hours to make their total of 165. Stokes and Anstee formed the opening partnership and the former was the first to go, again failing to get set. Stokes was Gavenlock's only victim of the day, the Police fast bowler suffering considerably when he was tried after rest.

Anstee survived Logan, who was able to knock up only four of the 30 which appeared on the board at his dismissal and then Marshall dug himself in for a display which was stylish even if it was slow. Anstee made a mistake with Kerman's bowling at 45 and Pat Madar hit up a fast 10 before he went too far out and had his balls whipped off by Bridge before he could recover.

Marshall plugged along with Hart-Baker for a while longer, but eventually gave the ex-army bowler his second wicket when he popped one over to Parker, the score-board then reading 86 for five. Hart-Baker, Boddy and Cochran went in quick succession, but a ninth wicket stand by Shroff and Bailey put the mean, and Pat Madar hit up a fast 10 before he went too far out and had his balls whipped off by Bridge before he could recover.

Two wickets, Simpson and Sevenoaks, fell before Barson and Booth

LEAGUE TENNIS

RECREIO LOSE BIG CHANCE

Defeated By Indians

Club de Recreio yesterday bade farewell to their hopes of annexing the "A" Division championship of the tennis league when they visited Sookunpoo and lost to the Indian Recreation Club by the odd set.

The surprise of the match was the comparative failure of A. V. Remedios and J. Goncalves, Recreio's No. 1 couple, who conceded two sets, including one to S. A. Rumsdell and M. O. Hoosen.

A. H. Madar and H. D. Rumsdell and I. M. A. Razack and A. R. Minu played splendidly to secure two sets apiece, while S. A. Rumsdell and Hoosen secured the vital set for the match.

Scores: Rumsdell and Madar (Indians) beat Barretto and Gosano 6-3; beat Remedios and Goncalves 7-5; lost to Barros and J. J. Remedios 5-7. S. A. Rumsdell and Hoosen (Indians) lost to Barretto and Gosano 1-8; beat Remedios and Goncalves 6-3; lost to Barros and Remedios 4-6. Razack and Minu (Indians) beat Barretto and Gosano 6-4; lost to Remedios and Goncalves 5-7; beat Barros and Remedios 6-4.

SENSATION AT FOREST HILLS

Mrs. Fabyan
Beaten

BY 18 YEAR-OLD
PLAYER

The first sensational result in the United States women's national singles tennis championship was signalled to-day. It was one of the biggest upsets of the decade.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, U.S. Wightman Cup player, succumbed in the first round to 18 year-old Dorothy Bundy, daughter of the former Miss May Sutton, Wimbledon champion in 1905 and 1907.

The scores in Miss Bundy's favour, says Reuter, were 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Dorothy Bundy comes from a real tennis family. Her mother, then May Sutton, won the American national championship in 1904 and in the same year annexed the U. S. women's doubles title. Visiting Europe in 1905 and again in 1907 she won the Wimbledon singles title and chalked up a score of other prominent championships and tournament successes. In 1912 she married T. C. Bundy, who in 1912, 1913 and 1914 partnered M. E. McLoughlin and won the United States doubles championship. In 1934 her nephew, John Doe, a protégé of W. T. Tilden, won the U.S.

national singles title, and in the same year Mrs. Bundy became a professional coach.

The defeat of Mrs. Fabyan over three sets is well nigh inexplicable, particularly in view of her magnificent Wightman Cup displays last June when she literally grabbed the Miss Kay Stammers in her second singles and helping Miss Helen Jacobs to win the vital doubles encounter against Miss Stammers and Miss Freda James.

FIRST SELECTIONS STRONG BATTING SIDE IN THE MAKING

Shanghai, Sept. 3. The Interport Selection Committee of the Shanghai cricket team to play against Hongkong in Shanghai in October, has announced that six places have been filled. The six selected are A. J. Barson, R. Booth, M. J. Divecha, J. B. H. Leckie, H. V. Parker, and L. F. Stokes. It is expected that further selections will be made public following the Wood Trophy match which is to be played this week-end.

These six form a very strong backbone for Shanghai's Interport eleven. All, with the exception of A. J. Barson, fill a double role. They are good bats and bowlers. Booth is at present top of the Shanghai Cricket Club's batting averages, Barson is second, Stokes sixth, a position which is lower than usual for him—Parker seventh, and Leckie tenth. Stokes is third in the bowling averages, Booth fourth, Parker fifth, and Leckie sixth.

The inclusion of Divecha is sound. Not only is he a steady bat, who can be relied upon to keep his end up should a collapse occur, but he is a useful change bowler. His bowling also has just that different quality which is needed as the attack stands at present. The remaining five positions will be difficult for the Selection Committee to fill as there are many candidates, whose qualifications are almost equal.

A wicket keeper is required. If Rawsthorne is fit again, he is well worth his place as a bowler.

Whether D. W. Leach will be included in the side depends primarily on when the Hongkong team will arrive here. Leach, according to reliable information, will be back on October 8. The Interport match, on the other hand, may be played or at any rate before this date. Dates, however, are still unsettled.

PEACE PARLEY THIS WEEK IN GENEVA

DELEGATIONS FROM 30 COUNTRIES, U.S.
INCLUDED WILL STRIVE TO REBUILD
COLLECTIVE SECURITY SYSTEM

Geneva, Sept. 4.

A worldwide peace campaign to arouse public opinion against the horrors and futility of war and show the urgent need for rebuilding the collective system will be launched at an international peace congress which meets here to-day.

The Congress, which has been organised under the leadership of Lord Cecil, president of the British League of Nations Union and Pierre Cot, France's Minister of Air, is gathering ground for representatives of peace societies, war veterans' associations, trade union, Christian organisations, cooperative societies, women's groups, medical associations and teachers' federations.

National committees are said to be working in more than 30 countries, including Britain, France, the United States, Russia, Argentina, Canada, Chile, Guatemala, Haiti, Mexico and Paraguay.

PARADES ARE BANNED

The Swiss Federal Council authorised the holding of the congress here on condition that no parades or open-air demonstrations are held and that the list of delegates is submitted beforehand to the federal authorities. These cautionary measures have been taken to meet the assertions made in a number of right-wing Swiss newspapers that the congress is Communist-inspired.

The basis of the peace campaign is laid in a four-point programme which is stated to indicate "the indispensable minimum requirements of any collective system for the organization of peace."

HOPE PLACED LEAGUE

These four points are:

1. Restoration of the sanctity of treaty obligations.

2. Reduction and limitation of armaments by international agreement and suppression of profit from the manufacture of arms.

3. Strengthening of the League of Nations for the prevention and stopping of war by the more effective organization of collective security and mutual assistance.

4. Establishment, within the framework of the League of Nations, of effective machinery for the remedying by peaceful means of international conditions which might lead to war.

NEW GROUP NOT PLANNED

The organisers stress that no new separate international organization is envisaged, but rather the coordination or existing bodies which are working for peace through the League of Nations.

Latin Americans cooperating in the preparations for the campaign include Dr. Emilio Pizarro Crespo, of Rosario, Argentina; Hildebrando Valdes, professor at the University of Montevideo, Uruguay; Camillo Frugony, Uruguayan writer; and Gustavo Salgado professor at the University of Quito, Ecuador.

HOW THE UNIVERSE BEGAN

British Association
Debate
OLD OPPONENTS

A debate on the origin of the earth and planets, to which Sir James Jeans will contribute, an analysis by Sir William Beveridge of the present unemployment position, and a "full-dress" discussion on the relation of national nutrition to home agriculture will, it is understood, be three items in the final programme of the British Association meeting, shortly to be issued. The Association will meet at Blackpool from September 9 to 10.

Sir James Jeans will, it is expected, uphold the belief that the planets of the solar system originated in a long, cigar-shaped protuberance, drawn from the sun's surface by the chance passage of another star.

He will be joined in discussion by Professor E. A. Milne, of Oxford University—an old opponent in debate—as well as by Professor W. M. Smart, of Cambridge. Professor A. Holmes, of Durham, one of the greatest authorities on the earth's history, will talk of long-past ice ages and the sun's changing heat, and Dr. H. Jeffreys, of Cambridge, who has ideas about the future of the earth, will sum up.

Later, in a public lecture on "Some Recent Advances in Astronomy," Sir James Jeans is expected to discuss the latest evidence that the universe is expanding.

EARTH MOVEMENTS

Professor H. G. Hicling, of Newcastle, will speak of earth movements in the North of England. There is a theory, not yet proved, that England is slowly tilting from north-west to south-east.

The nutrition discussion will be opened by Sir John Orr, whose recent report on the subject has created wide interest. He will be followed by Sir Daniel Hall, chief scientific adviser to the Ministry of Agriculture. Professor J. A. S. Watson, holder of the Chair of Rural Economy at Oxford, will analyse the possibilities of home meat production, and Professor H. D. Kay, Director of the National Institute for Research in Dairying, at Reading, those of milk.

A further discussion on chemistry and food science will be opened by Sir Frank Smith, Secretary of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. This will range from the problems of Empire supply to those of large catering firms.

Still another important group of contributions will be devoted to questions of traffic safety, headlight glare, and illumination in fog. A discussion on present and future improvements in electro-plating, together with the scientific basis of this industry, will be another item on the programme of immediately practical interest.

Milk... the quick, easy way to win soft, smooth, youthful skin!

TODY WING, "sincere, and fair-skinned, Hat Hanch comedy star, says, 'Summer sun, dust and wind will never give you a dry, aged looking skin if you nourish and protect it with Creme of Milk.'"

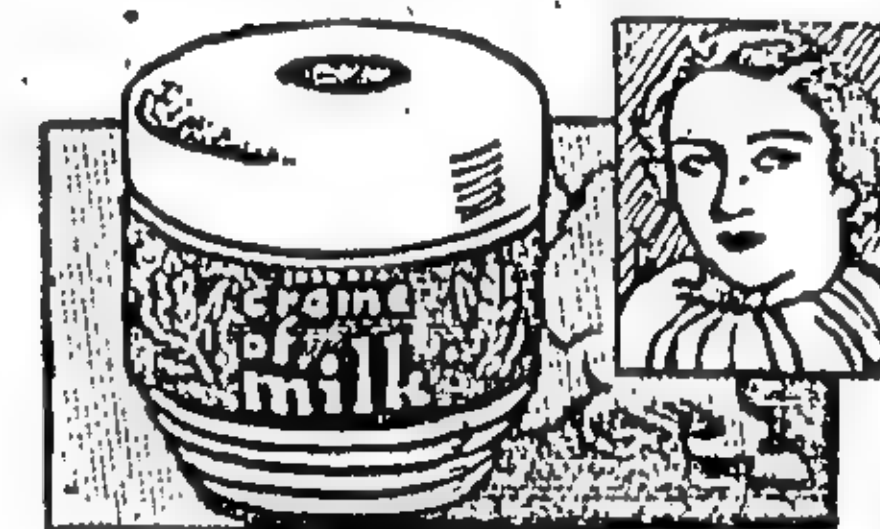

MARION TALLEY, "former Metropolitan Opera Star, says, 'The milk-oils in Creme of Milk are so fine and penetrating you can fairly feel your skin drink them in.'"

ROSINA LAWRENCE, "blond, pleasant, youthful Hat Hanch star in 'Water Ciderella' says, 'Creme of Milk is the fairest and most thorough skin cleanser so Hollywood stars have sworn to it. It is truly an all-purpose creme.'"

* Milk in a beauty creme at last!

MILK contains natural glandular oils that possess superior power to penetrate, cleanse and nourish the tissues of the skin. No creme, lotion or soap has ever been able to equal their marvellous results. And now scientists have discovered a way to extract and condense these precious milk-oils to make Creme of Milk the first really new face creme offered in modern times.

Creme of Milk, is a complete, all-purpose creme. It cleanses, nourishes and clarifies the skin with amazing speed. Dryness goes almost at once. The penetrating milk-oils make short work of blackheads, clogged pores and other blemishes, leaving the skin soft, smooth, fresh and youthful in appearance. Creme of Milk does more and lasts longer than any creme you know of. Every jar is guaranteed to stay sweet and fresh and it will not grow hair. Try Creme of Milk and you will discover the one beauty creme you have always hoped for.

Electricity from the Brain

DISEASE AND THE
"BERGER RHYTHM"

By A Medical Correspondent

The measurement of electrical energy given off by the brain has now been utilised, according to the current issue of the Lancet, to help in the exact localisation of tumours of that region, thus affording greater help to the surgeon than has hitherto been available.

The curious "Berger" rhythm, waves of electrical energy at a rate of about 10 per second, first fully demonstrated by Professor Berger, of Jena, but elaborately investigated by British research workers at Cambridge, is known to be most marked when the brain is at complete rest. Mental activity alters or abolishes the rhythm.

It was recently mentioned in the Morning Post that in that they are not abolished by mental activity and occur equally whether the eyes be open or shut (the original Berger rhythm is greatly modified by the effects of light on the open eyes).

Not only have these special slow waves been found in cases of tumour of the outer part of the brain, but "negative" findings are also recorded, which are of value in that a patient with symptoms very suggestive of a brain tumour, failed to show any slow waves on electrical investigation.

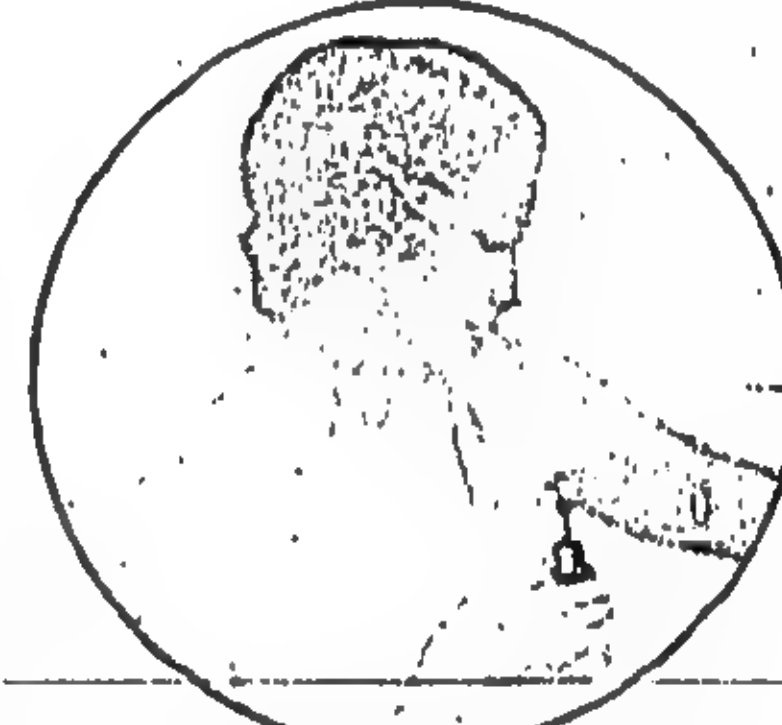

It is emphasised that such electrical tests must only be employed in close conjunction with every other known method of diagnosis. The new discovery provides no short cut to diagnosis, but is a big step forward towards making this more accurate. It is interesting to note that this new use of electricity for localising brain tumours was discussed in the Morning Post as far back as December, 1934, when the early discoveries were described.

NO CHANGE IN ACTIVITY

Another feature of these newly-described, slow waves is that they are not abolished by mental activity and occur equally whether the eyes be open or shut (the original Berger rhythm is greatly modified by the effects of light on the open eyes).

Reasons why 'MANSION' is so economical

'Mansion' being a highly concentrated wax polish, only a little is needed to give a mirror-like brilliance, to a large floor surface.

'Mansion', the preservative polish, lengthens the life of linoleums.

Because 'Mansion' gives such a lasting brilliance, floors need less frequent polishing.

A Shameful Story from RHODESIA

LYING south of the Zambezi river there is a great territory of 150,000 square miles called Southern Rhodesia. Less than half a century ago it was "native" territory under a King-Chief called Lobengula.

But when news reached the British South Africa Company that gold was to be found there in paying quantities, the shareholders of that company marched north by proxy, and after some pretty work with Maxim guns over assegaes, Lobengula was driven out, and the Company's directors ruled in his place.

In the year 1923 the territory became a British Dominion with a Parliament of white property owners.

The only restriction placed upon them was that no legislation discriminating between Europeans and natives could become operative until it had received the assent of the Dominions Secretary in the Imperial Government at Westminster.

In theory there is no colour bar. In theory the promise of Cecil Rhodes that there would be equal rights for all civilised men south of the Zambezi river still holds good.

In practice, however, the white property owners are taking jolly good care that the natives do not acquire the civilisation qualification.

Last year there was spent out of the public taxes £21 on every European child's education, and only 10s. per head upon the education of such African children as attended a school.

Yet, when further discriminatory legislation is carried in the Parliament of Southern Rhodesia, the members of the British House of Commons are kept carefully ignorant until such time as the Dominions Secretary has given his approval.

The papers are not laid upon the table of the House of Commons. No intimation of any kind is given us.

If we learn of it at all, it is by accident, or because someone like Mr. Creech Jones, M.P., or Mr. Noel Buxton, who takes an interest in the welfare of the disfranchised coloured subjects of the King, has been in touch with some missionary or returned traveller.

In April of this year the Government of Southern Rhodesia got through a measure called the Natives Registration Bill. Being discriminatory it had to be sent to London for Mr. Malcolm MacDonald's approval.

By section 14 (3) of this measure native women are to be licensed as

by
The Rt. Hon.
Tom
Johnston, M.P.

concubines for the use of imported labourers on the locations. The licences are to be issued by the superintendent of the locations. The goldmining and other employers require imported labourers—largely from Nyasaland. These labourers are not encouraged to bring their wives and families or given facilities to make a home and a settlement.

On the mines alone there are over 22,000 such importees, living separately from their wives and families, with the result that there has grown, and grown to an appalling extent, both prostitution and unnatural vice.

Instead of encouraging a family settlement system as a means of countering these evils, the Government of Southern Rhodesia now proceeds to license concubines. That is to use Mr. Malcolm MacDonald's delicate phraseology when answering my question on the subject, the other day) women who are to live with the labourers, "although there has been no actual form of marriage contracted."

And the Secretary of State for the Dominions has approved of this scandalous and shameful legislation. He is "not prepared to advise His Majesty to disallow this Act." (Hansard, July 14.)

From the Official Report of proceedings in the Parliament of Southern Rhodesia for last April 2, I see that the Minister of Native Affairs, in defending his Bill, declared that there would be "a large number" of these women, and he added:

"As hon. members know, the state of affairs in native life produced by white civilisation is really shocking. The bulk of these boys in the location are not legitimately married, either under their customs or under Christian rites. It is quite impossible to keep these natives in the proximity of our towns unless certain facilities are provided."

The concubine will be attached to the labourer during his period of contract with his employer.

When the contract is finished—the contract, I understand, is usually for 270 shifts in the gold mines, and that takes about 11 months to fulfil, but there are contracts for shorter periods—and the labourer goes away back home to his tribe, the concubine and her children, if any, will be passed on to another labourer. And when his contract of service is concluded, to still another labourer.

At no period of her concubinage can the woman be said to be living in economically comfortable conditions, since the wages of the man who is maintaining her appear to be on the average £13 per annum or 5s. per week (Empire Parliamentary Association Annual Report, 1933, p. 224).

But there is a food ration in addition, the value of which I am unable to estimate. The gold mining companies, especially since the country went off the gold standard, and the price of gold has rocketed from £4 5s. to about £7 per ounce, would appear to be under no necessity of paying only celibate wages.

Gold mining shares in South Africa are standing at from five to twenty times their par value, and some concerns are paying very large dividends. One Rhodesian company paid 80 per cent. in 1934 and 60 per cent. in 1935.

Why, then, should we have this Jim Crow legislation in Rhodesia, and why these bestial sex regulations?

In Uganda and West Africa, under the Colonial Office, we do at least attempt to administer affairs for the benefit of the Africans; we give them place and pride in our Commonwealth of Nations, so that they may desire to remain with us in the Empire under a common flag, and sharing the benefits of a great confederation.

But apparently at our Dominions Office there is no such conception of Trusteeship; there we have swallowed, lock, stock and barrel, the Cape policy of segregation and treating the Africans as a helot race, now and forever.

In Southern Rhodesia under the Prisons Act, an African in jail for a passport or any other offence can be given 12 cuts with the lash for twenty-nine separate offences against prison discipline.

Twelve cuts with the lash for:

"Being idle, careless or negligent in his work, or refusing to work; Swearing, cursing, or using abusive, insulting or improper language; Converting or holding intercourse with another prisoner not at authorised times; Singing, whistling or making an unnecessary noise or giving unnecessary trouble; Having in his cell any articles he should not have."

For these crimes, according to the Minister of Justice and Defence

by The Showman

O.H., a very mad world! And it seems far away. I am looking out into my small garden, with its two lime trees, its cat-walk, and its dog's sun-bathing enclosure.

There is a job (I have even forgotten what it is) that I am going to do sometime. And there is the place where the tortoise is buried.

The echo of apes' work in Europe comes rumbling over the house-tops; just as the sound of gunfire came to Mr. Bert D'Aragnan and me in rest billets on summer evenings so long ago—The first seven years are always the worst.

And now I seem to hear a dull, rhythmic noise. Why, of course, it is Mr. Baldwin. He has picked up the last brick he dropped, and is sadly knocking himself on the head. The Philosopher and his Stone.

Thus we return to reality.

That Wonderful Country

AMERICA is always funny in its progressive way. For example, Governor Landon, the Republican candidate for the Presidency, has been discovered to lack glamour: so his daughter has been roped in "to provide the sex appeal part of his campaign."

For another example, a nudist dancer was hired by the great city of Cleveland, Ohio, to make its great trades exhibition a financial success. And she said, did this dancer, "I find the world wants nudism properly presented."

AMAZING DISCLOSURE

ITS beyond us, isn't it? Just as, in the way in which President Roosevelt overcomes any opposition in the Senate to his proposals.

Didn't you know? Why, a bunch of little ladies dance into the Senate Chamber—one to each recalcitrant Senator—and they say "naughty old four-puss! But he must agree with our President! And there's a big kiss for him if he does!"

So each old four-puss agrees, and is kissed, and is hailed as a sweetie-pie. And that is how I met your grandmother.

Seasonable Warning

"Then pour into a cask, and bung tightly." Yes, bung tightly. Otherwise, "last year we made some cherry wine, and, after I had bunged it with my bung hammer, my family and I posed round the cask to be photographed."

And then—but you can guess. I can still hear the sound of the

—To-day's Thought—

YOU cannot fly like an eagle with the wings of a siren.

—W. H. HUDSON.

The "National" Government has, however, endorsed the shocking concubinage system, though how Mr. Malcolm MacDonald (who with his constituents in Ross and Cromarty stands so firmly opposed to the iniquities of Sunday Golf) came to append his signature of approval to it, I cannot understand.

He may, perhaps, have inherited some pledge from his predecessor in office. Anyhow, he did not sign inadvertently. He knew what he was doing. And I hope that Public Opinion, once the facts are known, will compel him to annul his signature.

explosion, and still see my cherry-coloured family. I can still hear the cherry-coloured photographer murmuring, as he was led away, "Most refreshing shower of—whoops!—shower of rain! Whore did come from!"

Curiously enough, we had just the same experience the previous year—only, of course, with a different photographer.

Important Discoveries of Pre-Christian Man

WORLD FAMOUS ARCHAEOLOGIST TO VISIT COLONY

TO EXAMINE LOCAL FINDS

Recent important archaeological discoveries in Hongkong by the Rev. D. Finn, S.J., Professor J. L. Shellshear and Mr. W. Schofield have awakened such interest at the recent Congress held in Oslo that Dr. Anderson, of Stockholm, one of the world's most famous archaeologists, has announced his intention of visiting this Colony in the near future.

Hongkong was represented at the Oslo Congress by the Rev. Father Finn, who made a full report of the discoveries in this Colony.

Some of the most famous archaeologists in the world were present at the Oslo Congress held at the beginning of last month.

Hongkong was represented by Rev. D. Finn, S.J. of the Regional Seminary, Aberdeen.

As "the guest from farthest off" Fr. Finn was given special prominence in the Oslo papers, and his presence at the Congress resulted in special attention being directed to the progress of archaeological investigation in China.

In the address which he gave to a large assembly he described the excavations at Lamam Island and at various sites in Hongkong, where most interesting specimens have been discovered.

His conclusions drawn from the results of these excavations were discussed with great interest, and all the delegates were agreed on the far-reaching importance of the discoveries and the light which they throw on the development of civilisation and the movement of peoples on the Pacific coast two thousand years ago.

IMPORTANCE STRESSED

Dr. van Stein Callenfels, one of the greatest living authorities on the pre-history of the East, who visited Hongkong last year and spoke at the Rotary Club, emphasised strongly the importance of Fr. Finn's report, and pointed out that archaeologists can no longer neglect the Hongkong excavations.

One result of the Congress is that Dr. Anderson, of Stockholm, an archaeologist of world-wide repute, has announced his intention of visiting Hongkong, if possible next year, to examine the excavations and examine the objects which have been discovered.

The delegates to the Congress were feted lavishly during their stay in Oslo. They were presented personally to the King and Queen, and were the guests of the city at an official banquet.

As an Empire delegate, Fr. Finn was also one of the guests at an official dinner in the British Legation, where, announced as coming from "Aberdeen" he found himself unexpectedly questioned on the early history of Scotland!

MANY INVITATIONS

After the Congress, Fr. Finn went to Stockholm and Golenborg to visit museums and private collections which he had been invited to inspect, and he received many other invitations to visit collections in various parts of Europe and the United States. He will be engaged for several months in visiting museums and in discussion with prominent archaeologists of various nationalities. He is in the fortunate position of being able to converse in close on a dozen languages and in having a reading knowledge of many more. Before returning to Hongkong next summer he hopes to spend some months in archaeological excavations in Malaya.

Fr. Finn, who is Lecturer in Geography in the Hongkong University, has been associated for several years with Professor Shellshear and Mr. Schofield, and several of their most interesting discoveries are on view in Rieck Hall, where they can be seen at any time by arrangement with the Warden.

MEETING CANCELLED

The meeting of members of the Nursing Detachment of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps arranged for Monday has been cancelled.

READY FOR ANOTHER OCEAN HOP

AMERICANS WAIT FOR WIND

London, Sept. 4.
The American liners, Richman and Merrill, who have crossed the Atlantic in 15 hours, and were forced down in Carmarthenshire on account of fog about London and the south of England, reached Croydon to-day.

They are awaiting favourable winds before returning to America, probably next week.—Reuter Bulletin Service.
The United Press adds that crowds cheered lustily when the Americans' plane, Lady Peace, landed at Croydon, and newspapermen besieged Richman.

Landon Gets Advantage

"LITERARY DIGEST" POLL RESULT

New York, Sept. 4.
Although President F. D. Roosevelt is a three-to-one favourite for reelection in many parts of the country, the first tabulation of the Literary Digest's poll of 24,000 ballots in Maine, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania gives Mr. Alfred Landon, Governor of Kansas and Republican candidate for the presidency, 10,650 votes and President Roosevelt 7,045.

Senator Lemke gets 745, which is a surprise to most.

However attention is drawn to the fact that no votes were taken in New York, City, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh where it is believed that President Roosevelt is very strong.—United Press.

Cubs Clout Pirates

PITTSBURGH GETS BAD TRIMMING

New York, Sept. 4.
Chicago Cubs won the only game in the National League to-day. They clubbed Pittsburgh's Pirates into submission, smacking fourteen hits and scoring eight times, while holding the Pirates to seven scoreless blows for the whole game.

In the American League, Washington hit fourteen and netted seven runs against Philadelphia, the Athletics hitting nine for a trio over the Reds.

New York Yankees scored nine on eight hits, Tony Lazzeri smacking a homer over the fence, and beat Boston, though the Red Sox out-hit the League leaders, Boston hit eleven but only scored six times, despite Fox's home run.—Reuter.

SMASH AND GRAB RAID FOR WATCH

TWO SOLDIERS ON SERIOUS CHARGE

ULLMANN'S VICTIMISED

Arising out of a sensational smash and grab raid on the windows of Messrs. J. Ullmann and Company's well-known jewellery establishment in Chater Road, two soldiers appeared at the Central Magistracy this morning on charges of shoplifting.

The two men in court were Rifleman B. Williams and Rifleman W. E. Davis, both of the Royal Welch Fusiliers.

An official of Messrs. Ullmann & Co., interviewed this morning, said that two soldiers were passing the establishment at 10 p.m. last night, when they stopped suddenly in front of the main window. One of the men lifted his stick, and, with the knob, smashed in the plate glass.

Although there was a considerable amount of jewellery in the window, only one watch, valued at $75, was extracted.

Lloyd George Received By Adolf Hitler

GIVEN THREE-HOUR INTERVIEW

Berlin, Sept. 4.
Mr. Lloyd George, accompanied by Herr von Ribbentrop, Ambassador-designate to London, was received by Herr Hitler at his country house near Berchtesgaden.

The interview lasted from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., after which it was officially stated that the general political situation was discussed.

The official comment added that Herr Hitler explained at some length the measures now being put into effect in Germany for economic reconstruction, such as road building and land settlement, in which Mr. Lloyd George showed special interest.

Lewis Fights Len Harvey

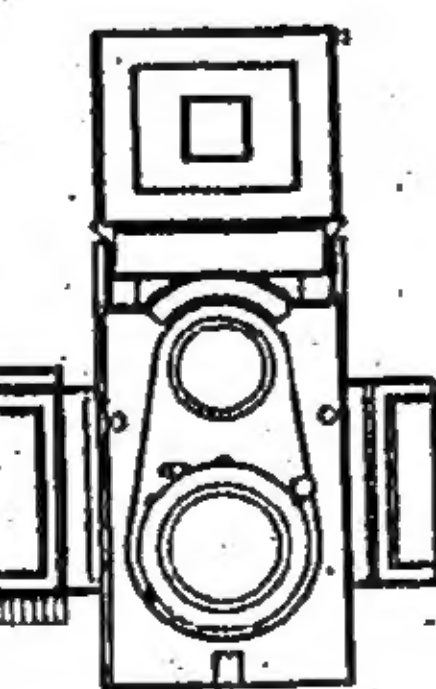

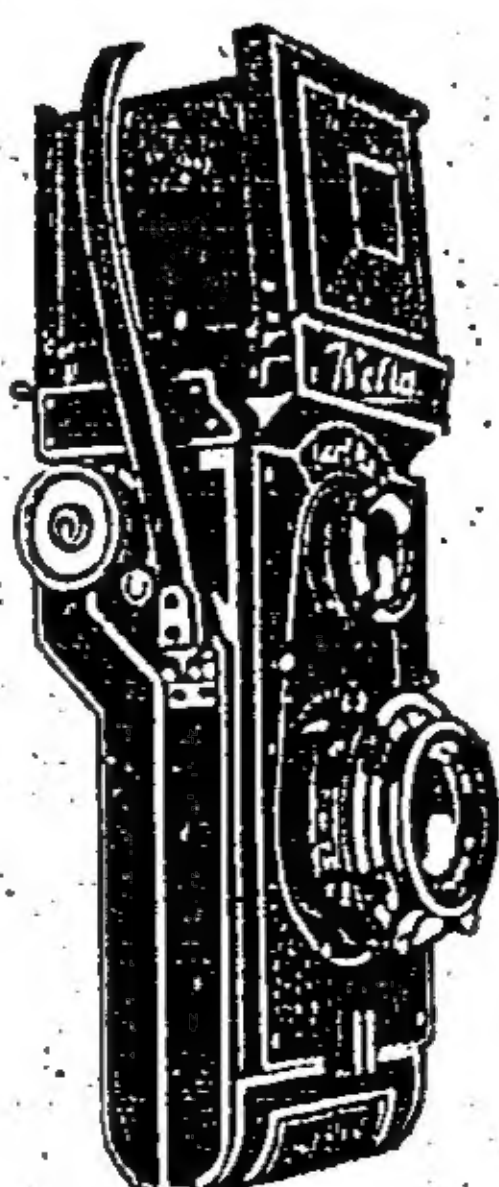

BRITISH NEGRO'S BIG CHANCE

New York, Sept. 4.
The light-heavyweight champion, Johnny Lewis, has been matched with Len Harvey, the Canadian-born Negro and one-time champion of the British Empire, for a 15-round title bout at Wembley Stadium in London, November 3.

Lewis is guaranteed over £4,000. This is Harvey's big chance, but it comes late in his career. For years he sought a fight for the light-heavyweight title and was willing to meet the best of the American heavyweights, but he was given few chances to show his skill and courage. Harvey is considered well beyond his prime at this time, however, and given little chance of a victory over the champion, Lewis.—United Press.

SIAMESE OIL TANKER

An unusual sight in harbour yesterday was an oil tanker of the Siamese Navy. The tanker came in from Japan, where she was built, and tied up at the No. 1 Buoy preparatory to continuing her journey to Siam. The present Siamese Navy consists of three destroyers, six torpedo boats, six gunboats and a number of auxiliaries.
